INDEX AND ADVERTISING

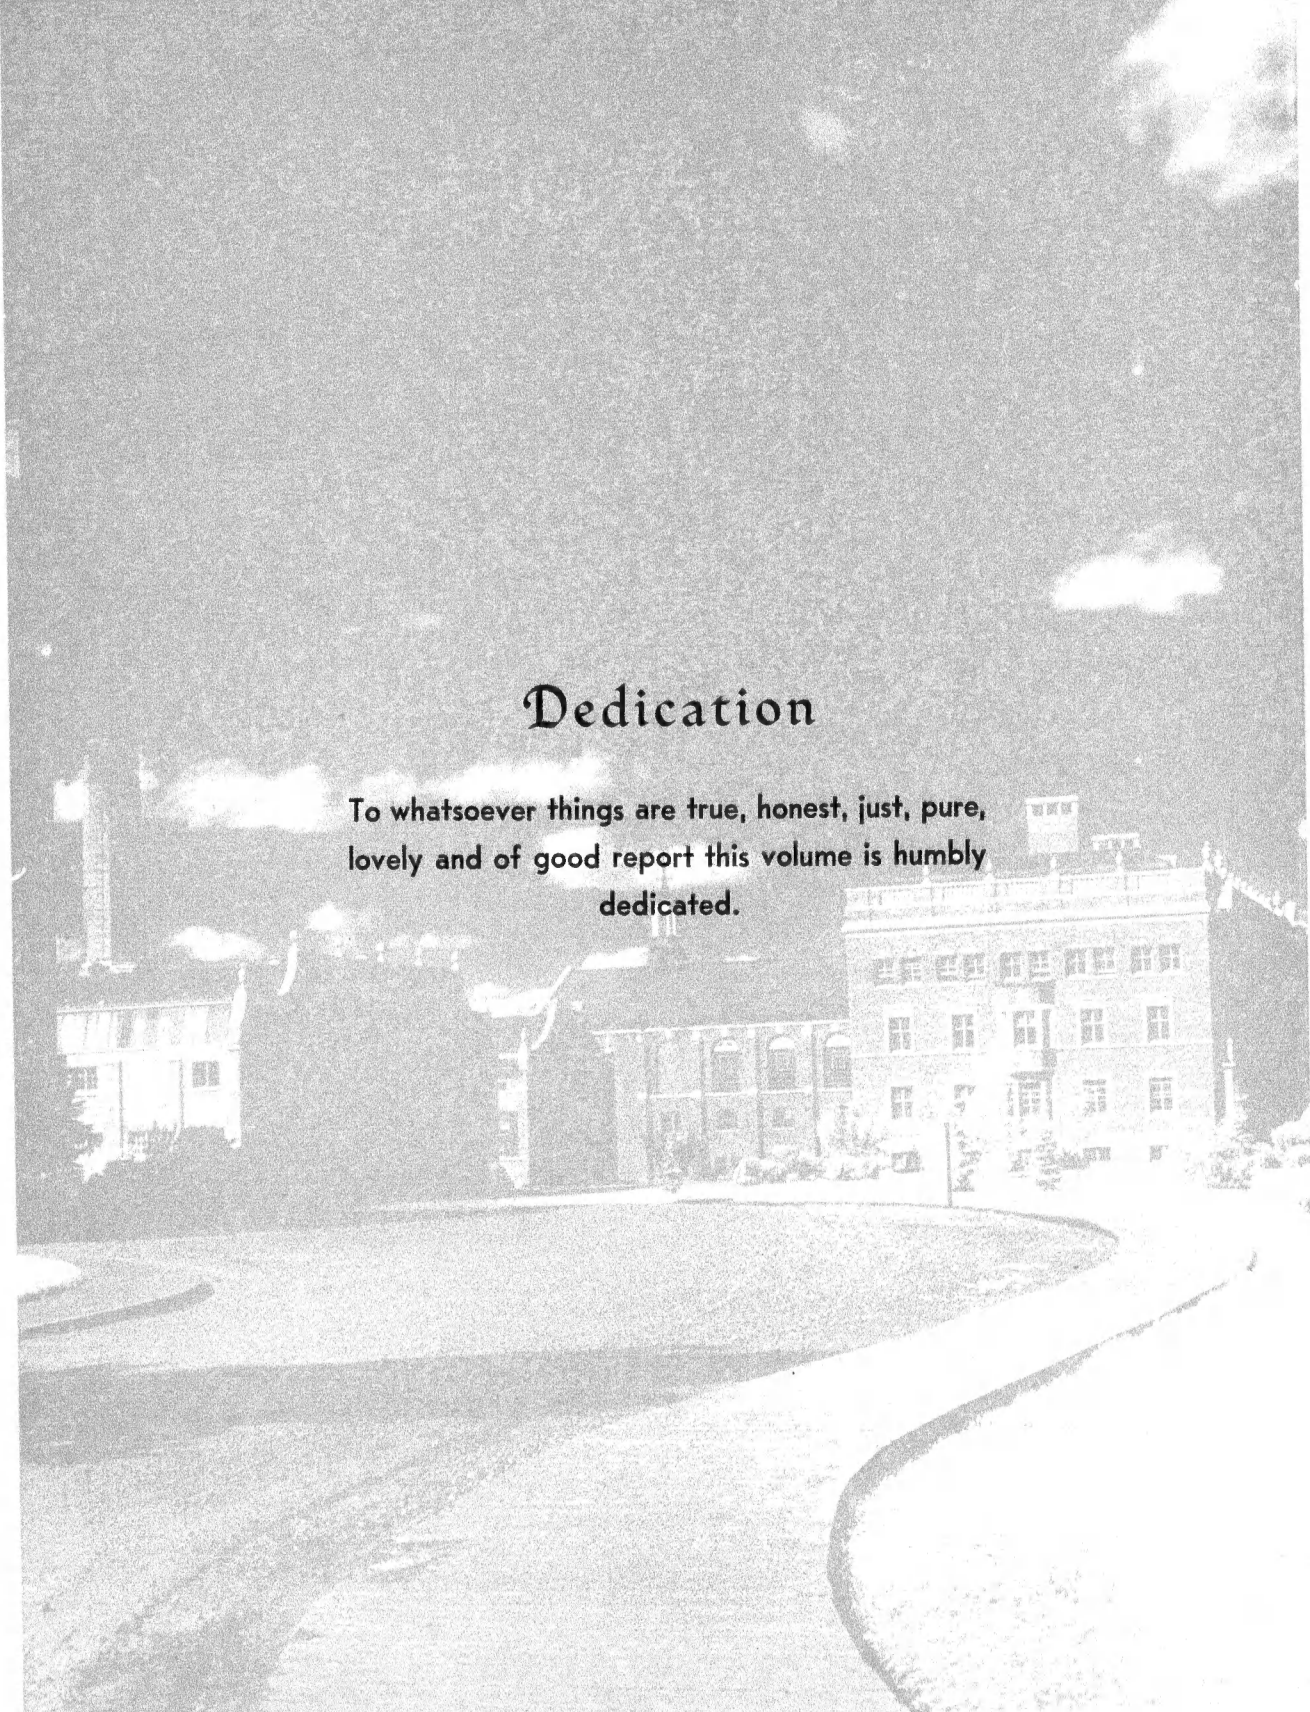

Foreword

University life embodies all the joy and vitality of youth itself. Memories of campus days cannot but overflow with vivid scenes of pleasures manifold; of unforgettable acquaintances and incidents; of vicissitudes and triumphs.

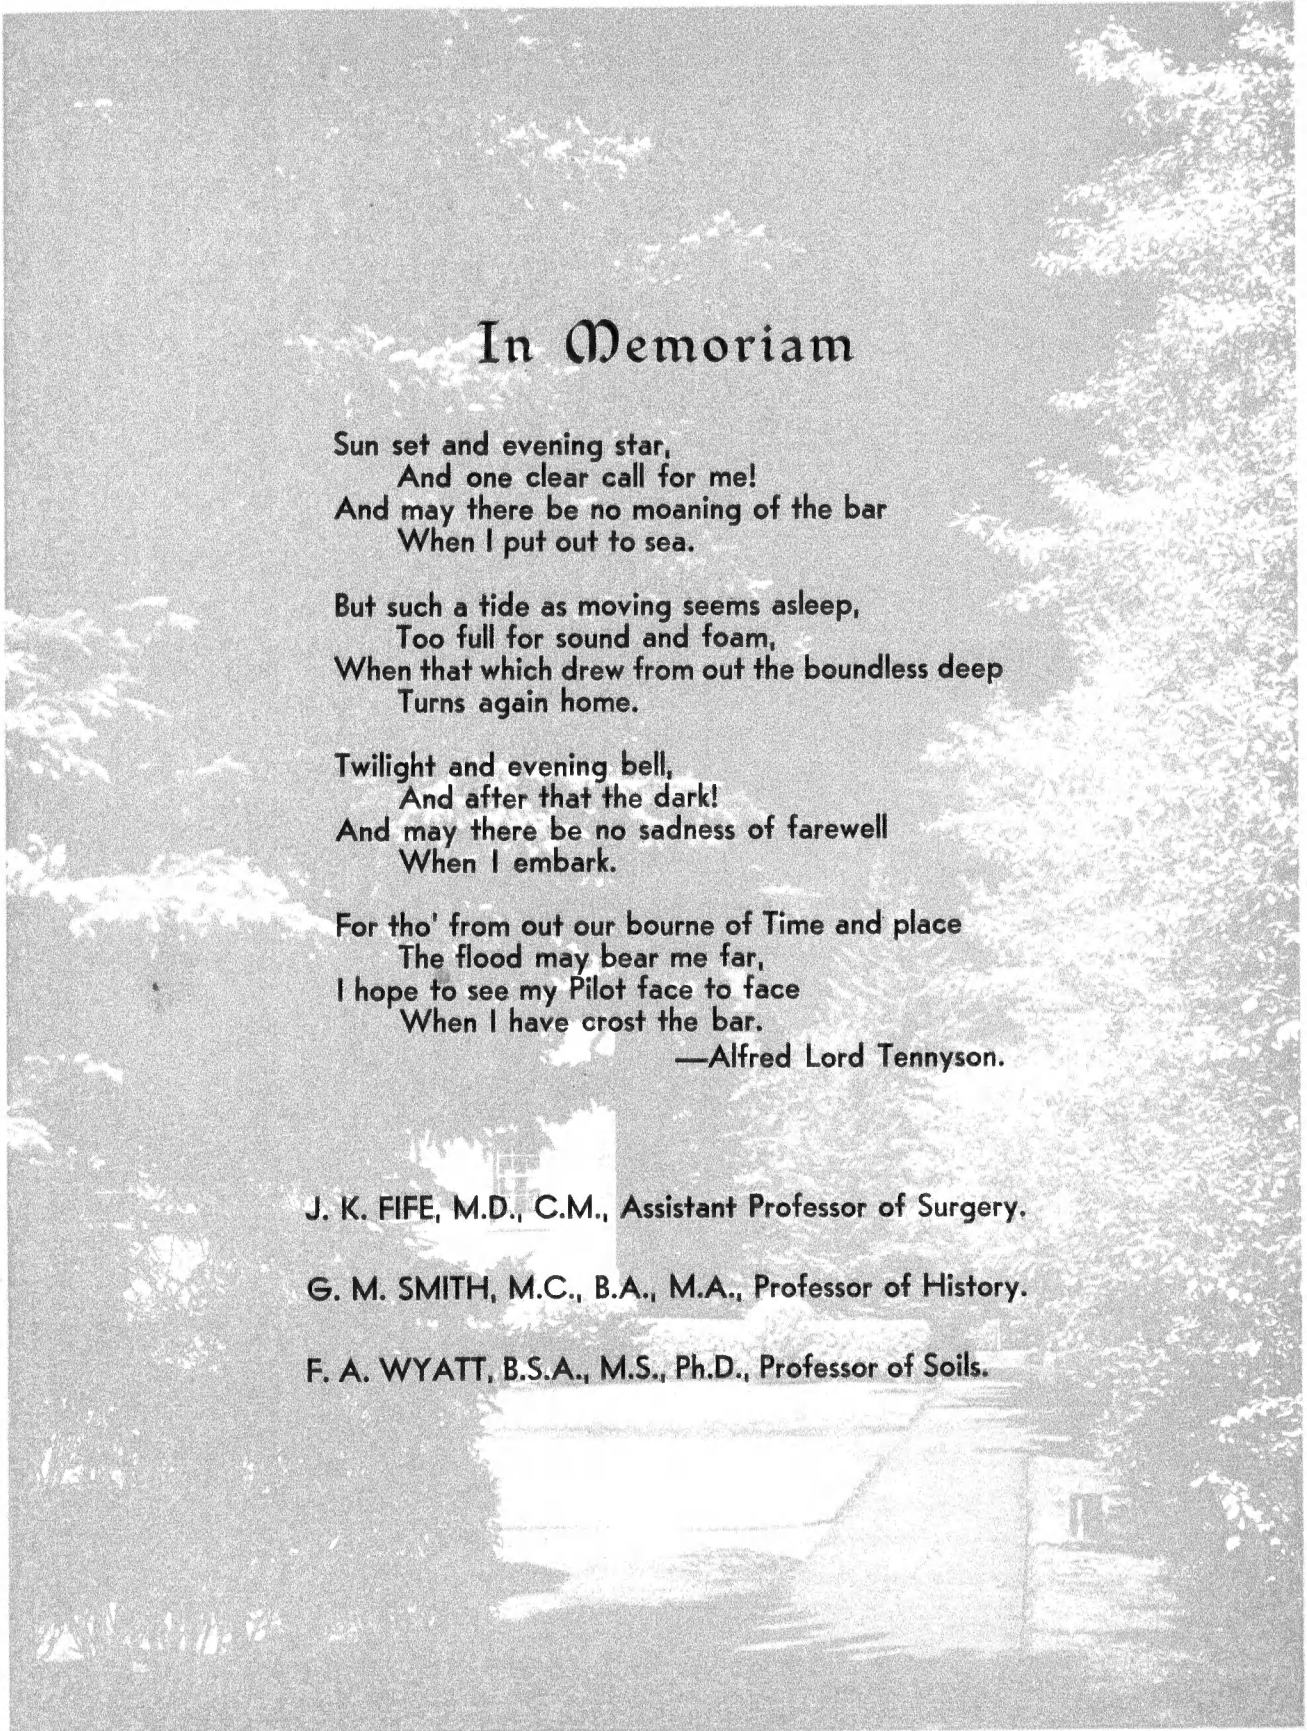

The flight of time, however, may dim and blur the smaller things which make campus life what it is—that never-ending temptation to forget an eight o'clock; the evenings spent over a cup of coffee; the care-free formals; the many discarded study plans; the animated Tuck-date; and the inevitable cramming before exams.

It is with optimism therefore that we put forth this volume, hoping that in years to come it may serve as a perpetual source of joyful memories to those who spent the year 1948 at the University of Alberta.

Dedication

To whatsoever things are true, honest, just, pure, lovely and of good report this volume is humbly dedicated.

In Memoriam

Sun set and evening star,
And one clear call for me!
And may there be no moaning of the bar
When I put out to sea.

But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
Too full for sound and foam,
When that which drew from out the boundless deep
Turns again home.

Twilight and evening bell,
And after that the dark!
And may there be no sadness of farewell
When I embark.

For tho' from out our bourne of Time and place
The flood may bear me far,
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crost the bar.

President's Message

"A DISINTERESTED endeavour to learn and propagate the best that is known and thought in the world, and thus to establish ■ current of fresh and true ideas." This definition of literary criticism, by Matthew Arnold, expresses also what we want of education.

The acquisition of technical skill and competence is important, but it is not enough. It should be matched by humanity and warm friendliness. The educated man is a cultivated human being, an asset to society, though independent of it by reason of his intellectual resources. In short, he is a man of developed character and intellect.

What are the marks of education? First is scholarship: mastery of ■ chosen field and intelligent acquaintance with other fields of learning. Second, the good manners worthy of "a gentleman and scholar", for the scholar must show in his daily walk that he has studied the wisdom of the ages to some purpose. Third, the power of conveying thought to others, ■ power acquired by habitually reading good books and practising ■ high standard of writing and conversation. Fourth, reverence for what is holy. Fifth, devotion to whatsoever things are true, honest, just, pure, lovely, and of good report. Sixth, modesty: "If I have seen farther than my predecessors", said Newton, "it is because I have stood on the shoulders of giants." Seventh, discipline: civilization is self-discipline; the educated man is known by his controlled and considerate behaviour.

There are certain pitfalls which the educated man will avoid. He will wear his learning lightly and be welcome in any society. He will shun the academic mind, that mind which sees so many arguments on both sides it never takes ■ decided stand; be its possessor ever so great ■ scholar, as ■ citizen he is completely futile. He will never rest on his oars, realizing that the man who does so in this swiftly moving world is soon left behind; education is an arduous and lifelong process.

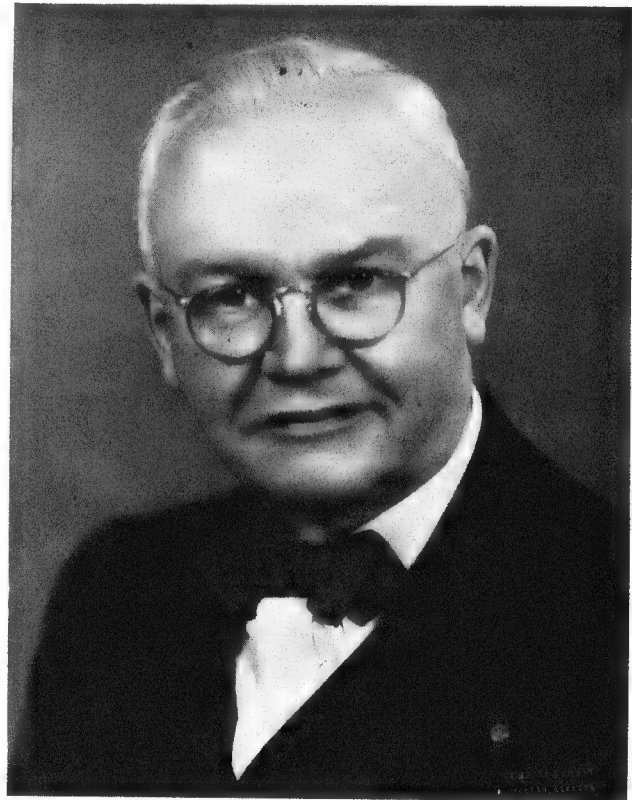

President ROBERT NEWTON, M.C., B.S.A., M.Sc., Ph.D., D.S.C., F.R.S.C.

Chancellor

Veteran educationist, and Deputy Minister of Education for eleven years, Dr. G. F. McNally was appointed Chancellor of the University in August 1946.

A graduate of the University of New Brunswick he registered at the University of Alberta in 1908 and received his Master of Arts degree with the first graduation class. In 1909 he was made Inspector of Schools at Wetaskiwin and later held the same position in Calgary. He became Principal of the Camrose Normal School in 1913, a position he held until 1918 when he entered the Department of Education as Supervisor of Schools. In 1935 he was appointed Deputy Minister of Education.

In May, 1946 Dr. McNally was given the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at this University.

GEORGE FREDERICK McNALLY, M.A., LL.D.

THE HON. MR. JUSTICE PARLEE, B.A., B.C.L., LL.D.

Chairman of the Board of Governors

The Honorable Mr. Justice Harold Hayward Parlee, K.C., who was appointed in 1940 to the chairmanship of the Board of Governors, was born in New Brunswick. After a short career in the teaching profession he graduated in Arts from the University of Mount Allison, and then in Law from the University of Dalhousie, St. John, N.B. Law School and King's College, Windsor, N.S.

Sound in administration, skilful in negotiation, Dr. Parlee brings to his duties many attainments, but not the least of the qualities which have endeared him to his friends is a penetrating interest in the affairs of young men and women. He possesses a happy faculty, vouchsafed to few, of never growing old; of retaining that vigorous and challenging outlook, which is characteristic of youth.

=====Administration=====

REGISTRAR—MR. G. B. TAYLOR.

Mr. G. B. Taylor, Registrar of the University, is head of one of the busiest departments on the campus. As chief executive in charge of the office of files and stenographers, Mr. Taylor's duties are many and varied. The records and files have grown with each succeeding year, as constant contact is kept with the ever growing number of Alumni. Here all the records of each student at University are kept, providing a reliable source of reference for the various faculties, the Students' Union, and various campus organizations.

Since its meagre beginning in 1908, with the first small enrolment, the department has grown to become an indispensable part of the University, giving and receiving vital information. Presiding over a large staff of stenographers and secretaries, Mr. Taylor's office is constantly being besieged not only by University students, but by prospective students to gain admittance. Located on the second floor of the Arts Building, the Registrar's Office has become a familiar landmark to students through the years.

THE BURSAR—MR. WHITTON.

The Bursar's Office is responsible for the detail of campus business administration. This office has expanded from one small room in Athabasca Hall in the "good old days" to its spacious location in the Arts Building—with a staff of more than twenty.

Perhaps best known to students as a place to pay their fees, the Bursar's Office is concerned with countless other transactions. Budgetary control, purchasing, payrolls, department control, financial records, statements, and all the various and sundry financial and business transactions encountered in a large educational institution, suffice to keep Mr. Whitton the present Bursar, and his active staff fully occupied.

THE ALUMNI SECRETARY—MR. MARKLE.

The duties of the Alumni Secretary are twofold. In addition to acting as liaison between the Alumni Association and the University, he keeps the graduates in close contact with their Alma Mater.

The membership of the Alumni Association has increased to such an extent during the past years that through its influence and its sympathetic co-operation it is often of great assistance to the University. Branches of the association which have been formed in the larger centres are kept in close contact with the University by Mr. Markle the Alumni Secretary. Alumni interest in the University is furthermore maintained through the medium of the "New Trail" an informative quarter annual, published under the supervision of the versatile secretary of the Alumni Association.

ADVISOR TO VETERANS—DR. COOK.

The Veteran Advisor, Dr. Cook is known to all returned men as an extremely capable, understanding friend.

Formed in September, 1945, this office attempts to meet the needs of the student veteran, who requires assistance in solving problems of rehabilitation, ranging from personal affairs to finding suitable living accommodations. This office works in close conjunction with the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

Dr. Cook, an associate professor of mathematics, and secretary of the Student Veteran Loan Board will continue to act in the capacity of an understanding counsellor and friend until needy veteran students have passed from these halls of learning.

===== Personnel =====

EXTENSION DEPARTMENT—DONALD CAMERON.

The Department of Extension's primary purpose is to make available to the province the educational benefits of the University. The staff of over twenty people is kept busy providing extension service in the form of films, records, and printed information. The Department publishes the monthly drama magazine "Stage Door" as well as arranging for the adjudication of drama and musical festivals. It also offers short lecture courses to interested drama groups throughout the province.

The famous Banff School of Fine Arts, a very important branch of the Department, attracts students from far and wide, who gather to study under beautiful surroundings during the summer months.

Donald Cameron, Director of the Department of Extension is rendering both the University and the Province a valuable service through his energetic and progressive leadership.

ASSISTANT REGISTRAR—MR. CAIRNS.

Mr. Cairns, the Assistant Registrar enjoys duties closely connected to those of the Registrar. By shouldering some of the vast responsibility of the Registrar's Office, this office makes possible the efficient handling of the heavy administrative work of the University.

Three former classrooms on the second floor of the Arts Building now house the Assistant's Office—a far cry from the old cramped quarters in Athabasca Hall.

Amongst the maze of files in these offices may be found records varying all the way from pre-university works to General Faculty Council information which is used in maintaining provincial professional standards.

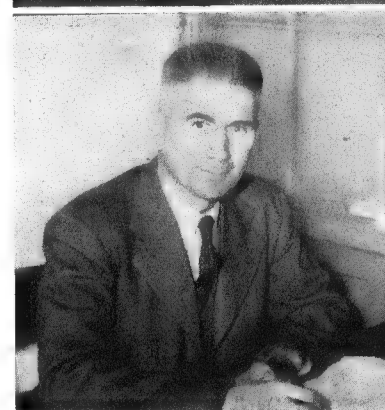

PROVOST—MR. H. P. SPARBY.

Mr. H. P. Sparby is the U. of A.'s third Provost. The office of provost was first held by Dr. MacEachran, who accepted the position in 1914, after having been disciplinarian for Athabasca Hall for a number of years. His successor, Col. P. S. Warren, was provost from 1945 until his retirement this year, when Mr. Sparby took over.

The provost's primary duty is to act as a mediator between the students and administrators of the University. Moreover, he is responsible for discipline, and exercises general supervision over conduct and welfare of the students, especially those in residence. In cases of serious breach of discipline, the provost acts as head of the Committee of Investigation.

Mr. Sparby came from Calgary two years ago, to fill a vacancy on the Faculty of Education, and now enjoys the two-fold task of attending to his duties as provost as well as delivering lectures to student teachers.

EXECUTIVE ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT—DR. JOHNS.

As assistant to the President, Dr. Johns shoulders the numerous and varied duties which may from time to time be assigned by Dr. Newton. Such matters as the preparation of the budget, allocation of space for teaching, preparation of certain portions of the calendar, and the maintenance of records, take up a good portion of Dr. Johns' time. In addition to handling these and the many other intricacies involved in the direction of the University, this amiable and efficient administrator is an accomplished lecturer in the Department of Classics of the Faculty of Arts and Science.

FACULTY OF AGRICULTURE

The University of Alberta saw the creation of the Faculty of Agriculture in May 1915. This embryonic organization advanced by leaps and bounds, soon to become one of the best established and most popular faculties on the campus. Today, with a permanent staff of 21 and an enrolment of over 300, the Faculty of Agriculture is turning out high-calibre personnel to manage our nation's chief industry. Furthermore, it is conducting extensive research programmes in such fields as Animal Husbandry, Dairying, Field Crops and Soils. Dean R. D. Sinclair, the present "man behind the scenes" has seen his faculty through good times and bad since 1941. Under the capable leadership of an individual so deeply concerned with the progress of Agriculture in our province, the future of this Faculty is assured.

FACULTY OF LAW

The Faculty of Law was established in 1919 with sixty students enrolled. With the adoption of the unique case system of teaching, students have learned their law by reading and discussing actual cases. Each student is given the opportunity to argue a Moot each year, the bench consisting of Seniors and over-town lawyers.

Dean W. F. Bowker succeeded Dean M. M. MacIntyre in 1945 and with limited staff and facilities has proven his metal in putting through an ever-increasing number of students in this already overcrowded faculty.

FACULTY OF MEDICINE

In October 1913, instruction began in the Faculty of Medicine, but it was not until 1924 that a complete five year course leading to the degree of M.D. was offered. The same year the School of Nursing was added to the Faculty. Classes continued to swell until in 1945 Dentistry was separated from the Faculty of Medicine, becoming a faculty in itself. During the Second World War an accelerated course in Medicine was designed to meet the increased demand for MO's in the armed forces.

The relentless efforts of Dr. Rankin the first dean, coupled with the generosity of the Rockefeller Foundation in placing half a million dollars at the disposal of the University for medical teaching purposes, are in a large degree responsible for the reputable status of Alberta's Faculty of Medicine. With the largest classes on record in attendance this session, and the Pre-Medical years filled to overflowing, it is expected that the Faculty of Medicine will assume an even greater role on the campus in the near future.

FACULTY OF ENGINEERING

The Faculty of Applied Science was separated from the Faculty of Arts and Science in the autumn of 1913. During the first two years of its existence the faculty held classes in Athabasca Hall. In 1915 classrooms were moved to the Arts Building, which had just reached completion, and in 1919 the engineering laboratories were added to the list of Temporary University Buildings. Dean Hardy now heads the progressive faculty.

The recent expansion of the oil industry in Alberta with the discovery of the Leduc field has produced intensified efforts within the faculty to add a course in Petroleum Engineering to an already extensive curriculum including Chemical, Civil, Electrical and Mining Engineering.

FACULTY OF DENTISTRY

Although the Faculty of Dentistry is a comparatively new faculty on the campus, plans are already under way to expand present facilities. It is hoped that in the not too distant future the Faculty will take over one of the most modern and best equipped university dental clinics in Canada.

The courses in Dentistry are so planned as to provide a sound educational background; and a thorough knowledge of the various diagnostic and treatment techniques.

Through the untiring efforts of Dean W. S. Hamilton and his capable staff, the Faculty of Dentistry has attained a very prominent position among Canadian and American dental training institutions.

FACULTY OF ARTS AND SCIENCE

Dean J. MacDonald heads the Faculty which has been the mainstay of the University since its origin in 1908. During this period of time, many other faculties have been born within the Faculty of Arts and Science, and have been guided along until such time as they were able to carry on alone.

The University's "Mother Faculty" at present is experiencing growing pains resulting from the huge influx of students following the most recent World War. Classes and laboratories in both the Arts and Medical Buildings are filled to overflowing. With hope for relief still out of sight, Dean MacDonald is doing a truly creditable job in keeping this "awkward" faculty rolling during so difficult a period.

ADVISOR TO WOMEN STUDENTS

Miss Simpson, Advisor to Women Students, not unlike her predecessors, has discovered that the undefined duties of her position are manifold, and that they offer great scope for real service to university students.

An extremely energetic person, Miss Simpson refuses to adhere to office hours, being ready and willing to help any student at any time. While her chief capacity is Advisor to Women Students, one can rest assured that no mere man has ever been turned away from her door. It has been said that Miss Simpson has played the part of "Mother Confessor and a true friend" to innumerable students, ranging all the way from the lowly freshette at the coffee party to the club executive planning a special social affair.

In addition to her other duties, Miss Simpson finds time to lecture in the Faculty of Education.

EDUCATION

Dr. E. M. LaZerte, Dean of the Faculty of Education, is head of a faculty in which evolution and expansion have characterized its teacher training program in the University since its beginnings about twenty years ago. In 1930 the School of Education was established with a faculty of two, and a student enrolment of eight. Students registered in the School of Education after graduation from the Faculty of Arts and Science, and qualified for a High School Certificate in one year. During 1940 and 1941 the teacher training institution was called the College of Education. The graduating class had increased to approximately sixty by 1942. Faculty, authorized by the Senate in 1928, was finally completed in 1942, and a program of training leading to a Bachelor's degree was introduced. The closing of Alberta's Normal Schools in 1945 and the integration of all teacher training under the Faculty of Education resulted in a sudden increase in the number of Education students, until today there are over 950 students in the faculty.

History of the University of Alberta

In 1906 at the first session of the Legislature of the newly formed Province of Alberta, Dr. Alexander Cameron Rutherford, Premier and Minister of Education, urged the immediate establishment of a Provincial University. Doubting Thomases argued that there were more important things needed by the new province, but many far-sighted men agreed with Dr. Rutherford and the University Act was passed. A wild stretch of land on the south bank of the Saskatchewan River was chosen as the site for the campus. Dr. Rutherford visited his Alma Mater, McGill University, and persuaded Dr. Henry Marshall Tory to leave the comfort and security of his position as Professor of Physics and go west to become President of a University without staff, students or buildings. Dr. Tory assumed office on January 1, 1908 and on September 23rd of that year, the first class met on the upper floor of what was then the Duggan Street School. Forty-five students, including four graduates, registered. This was the pioneer class, for although there were graduating exercises in 1911 the class of 1912 were the first genuine "beginning to end" U. of A. grads.

In January of 1909 the classes and their one truck load of University equipment moved to the upper floor of the Strathcona Collegiate Institute. This was their home until 1911 when the first University building, Athabasca Hall, was completed. In spite of the monthly quizzes and two full sets of finals each year, extra curricular activities became an important part of Varsity life. Among the first organizations to appear was the Literary Society which managed most of the campus activities. Athletics started off in full swing with rugby, hockey, and basketball the favourites. A Dramatic Society, Glee Club, Orchestra and several debating clubs were not long appearing on the scene. The Gateway made its debut during the third session and published a monthly edition given over to literary efforts.

Assiniboia was built in 1913 and Pembina completed in '14. The three buildings were used for classrooms as well as residences, an arrangement causing much laughter to students and misery to professors who had to lecture against the bathtub baritone of some aspiring Caruso.

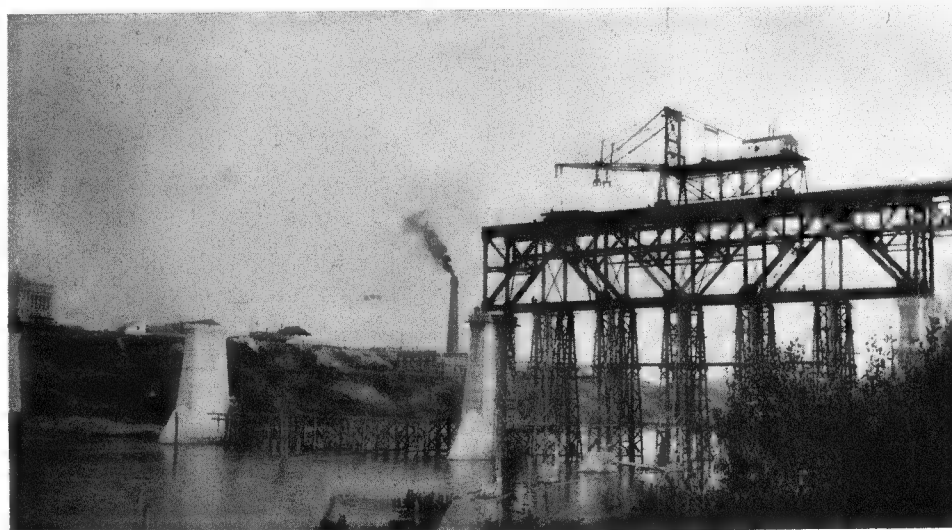

The first Faculty of Arts and Applied Sciences saw an annual increase in student enrolment. The Faculty of Law was added in 1912. Applied Science was separated from Arts in 1913 and the Department of Extension was opened the same year. On April 14, 1914 the Senate accepted the constitution of the C.O.T.C. and at the same session refused the motion that lectures in peace be given by the University. The original foundations of the Arts building were blown up and larger ones laid. On August 4th, 1914 Great Britain stepped into the conflict in Europe; Canada followed a few days later and war became a grim reality for the young University not yet six years old.

The first basement of Arts which was demolished to make way for a larger foundation.

General opinion was that the war would last six months at the most so in the fall of that year most of the old Varsity crowd were back to carry on in the same way, although the C.O.T.C. assumed a new importance.

The autumn of 1914 was made forever notable in University annals when the rugby team captured their first Provincial Championship. In October of the next year the main building and new home of the Faculty of Arts and Science was officially opened. The President and other faculty members moved from behind their desks in Athabasca to the new carefully planned building of offices and classrooms. During the winter of that year professors and students together drilled with the C.O.T.C. in Con Hall. There followed the years of khaki graduations. Lists of men receiving degrees became smaller and smaller until in 1917 Katie McCrimmon was elected the first woman president of the Students' Council.

Construction of the High Level Bridge, the project which made the U. of A.
■ part of Edmonton.

Ottawa authorized the formation of the 196th Battalion C.E.F., with one company from each of the western universities. Alberta's company was housed, fed, and trained on the campus, which assumed the air of a military camp.

When we recall that at the outbreak of the war the student body numbered only 440 we realize that Alberta did her bit by sending 494 persons into active service. A simple bronze tablet at the door of Con Hall bears the names of the eighty-two who made the supreme sacrifice. An unusual and outstanding contribution made by the University during the war was the establishment of the Khaki University headed by Dr. Tory. A school at Ripon in Yorkshire offered direction and advice to students, and furthermore provided instruction in every conceivable subject.

In 1918 when the flu epidemic made it necessary to close the University, Pembina was taken over by the city to isolate some of the victims. After the Armistice, enrolment was swelled by the return of the troops and discipline sagged somewhat. A craze for social affairs developed with house dances the order of the day.

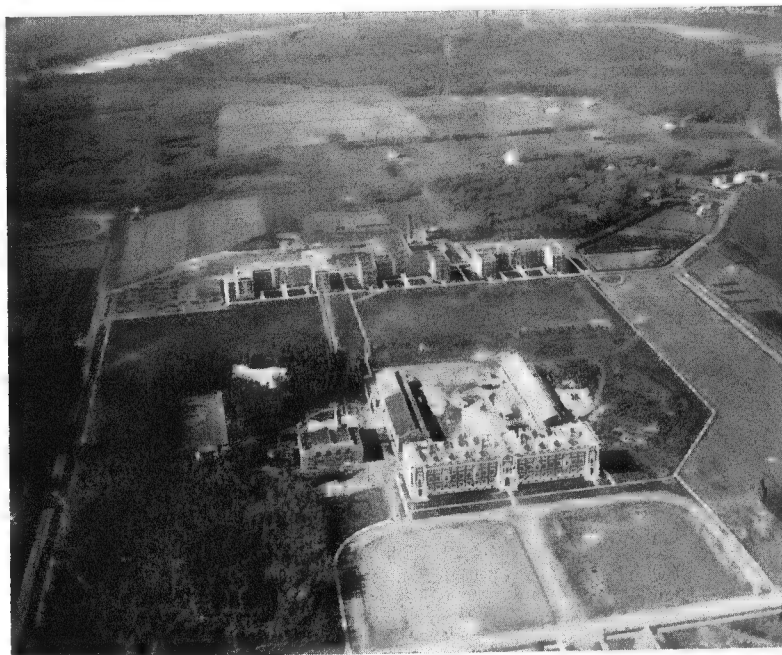

An addition in the form of a brass rail was made to the balcony of Con Hall for the protection of the Med students who climaxed their annual Med Nite celebrations by testing their equilibrium by strolling around the foot ledge.

The turning of the first sod for the new Arts Building—1913.

In 1920 the House Eccers invaded the South Lab much to the annoyance of the engineers who had ruled supreme in the building from the day it was opened in 1918. With the opening of the Med Building in 1921, the Department of Chemistry moved over from Arts to be squeezed in among the Meds and the stiffs (who were glad to get out of the Power House.)

In the early twenties the Civil Engineer Club was reorganized becoming known in more refined circles as the Engineering Students' Society. The annual banquet was inaugurated and rivalry became hot between the Engineers and the rising new Faculty of Medicine. A boom to coed life was the installation of telephones in Pembina in 1921. Our own Mamie Simpson joined the Alumni ranks with the Class of '22—who presented the University with the Chancellor's Chair, still used at Convocation. In 1922 the Gateway managed to pull themselves out of a thousand dollar hole and handed over the publishing of the yearbook to a new independent staff: the Evergreen and Gold.

An organ was installed in Con Hall in 1925, in memory of the students who fought in the war. On November 6th of that year St. Joseph's College was officially opened and on November 21 the first program was broadcast over the University Radio Station CKUA. Alberta defeated Saskatchewan 11-7 in the first game of the Inter-Varsity Rugby Schedule but lost to Manitoba in the finals.

much time was spent introducing the freshmen to campus life so the initiation time was cut to one week. Pyjama-clad, paint-bedaubed braves climaxed the week with a midnight war dance in front of Pembina.

The financial depression of 1929 decreased enrolment but despite the scarcity of money, the students began discussing plans for a Students' Union Building Fund. The Dents came into their own when the Faculty of Dentistry was added in 1930.

The decision to let them live in the residences resulted in much rejoicing amongst the freshmen of 1930, but many a sad heart mourned the day when, a year later, Pembina was put under lock and key. In 1933 initiation as it was in the good old days was abolished. The society page that year featured women's fashions with the new little-above-the ankle length in afternoon dresses. The Gateway printed a humorous edition on the plans for a Students' Union Building and in 1935 began publishing two editions a week.

In 1936 Dr. W. A. R. Kerr became the new President when Dr. Wallace left to take the presidency at Queen's University at Kingston. At this time the Women Haters Club were bemoaning the fact that an increasing number of females were aspiring to higher education. The Engineers were hauled on the carpet in 1937 by both the Faculty and the City Police for entering and breaking the Med Building with fire hoses and axes; and in the next spring the campus shook with the reverberations of the first Engineers' Ball.

With the outbreak of war in 1939 compulsory military training was introduced and even coeds paraded regularly under the command of Major Owen. In 1941 the R.C.A.F. invaded the residences and the era of boarding houses was ushered in. Color Nite originated in this same year, thanks to the efforts of Cec. Robson. Dr. Kerr retired and Dr. Robert Newton became the new President.

In 1943 the overflow of eager beavers who haunted the Arts Library moved their books over to the new Cafeteria. Casualties from the Med-Engineer fracas that spring were treated in the new infirmary.

In 1945 the University took over training of all teachers in the province; consequently innocent Ed students began their daily treks to the southern outpost of the campus. The same year Dr. Sheldon and the Math department widened their search for Infinity by moving into the old Garneau High School Building. The Mixed Chorus made its debut on the campus in 1945—the year the Varsity Show rolled them in the aisles. The Golden Bears won the Hardy Cup for the first time since 1928 and the Colonel Mewburn Pavilion was added to the University Hospital.

With the end of hostilities and the return of the Armed Forces the morale of Wauneitas went up one hundred percent. The addition in 1946 of a January Class produced many awkward situations, including the floor-sitting of freshmen Chem 42 students the following fall.

both here at home and in the Department of Extension which encompasses the entire Province, verify the fact that the University of Alberta is at last growing up. Research is being more actively pursued than ever before. Experimental work covering a wide range of projects is conducted by competent authorities in the fields of Agriculture, Dentistry, Medicine, Engineering, Physics, Botany, Chemistry, Zoology, and Pharmacy. In addition, the Research Council of Alberta is sponsoring a number of projects related to the development of provincial resources; and is encouraging graduate work by awarding research fellowships tenable at this University.

Increasing enrolment and lack of facilities present vital problems to both students and staff. A large building program has started. The Medical Building has two new wings and the Library Building is well under way. The next few years will likely see our dream of a Students' Union Building become a reality. If the past and present are any indication of what will happen in the years to come the future of our Alma Mater is assured.

=====Students'=====

A glance back through the yearbooks of previous years reveals that at least every second council considered its job the biggest in Student Council history. The 1947-48 Council is no exception. They believe that they have handled the biggest task up to the present time. With the largest budget since the inception of the Students' Union, your Council has endeavored to provide for the needs of many student activities. Even though the overall picture is good, members of the Council will be the first to admit that room still exists for improvement.

No doubt the maior development in student affairs during the past session has been the finalizing of over-all plans for the Students' Union Building, and the adoption by the student body of the detailed plans and financial arrangements for construction of the Social Unit. Present facilities for student extra-curricular activities, and the high standard of these activities today, are in no small part due to foresight and planning by student bodies of the past. I feel that the steps taken this year in regard to the Students'

Union Building have indicated that the foresight and high standard of planning in student affairs have been maintained.

In thanking the student body for their enthusiastic support and co-operation in all phases of student activity, I would like to say most sincerely it has been more than a pleasure to be of service to you.

The Students' Council beating out the budgets which caused them such a big headache this year.

====Union=====

All legislative, administrative, executive and judicial powers of the Students' Union are vested in the Students' Council and its component parts.

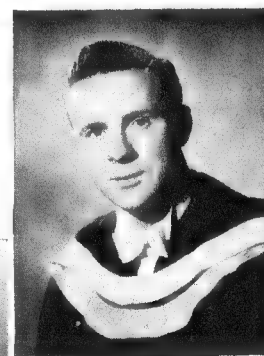

The Council, composed of nineteen members, meets in the senate chambers in the Arts Building every other week. The president of the Students' Union is chairman of the Council and his executive is composed of the Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and representatives of all campus organizations. On the Council are representatives of all faculties, the School of Nursing, President of the Literary Association, President of the Musical Association, the N.F.C.U.S. representative, President of the Wauneita, Vice-Chairman U.A.B., Secretary U.A.B., and the Treasurer U.A.B.

Every member of the Students' Union is entitled to vote in all elections, to receive benefits offered by the Union in extra curricular activities, and to represent the University in any activity to which the authority of the Union extends.

The election of officers for Council positions is held in March, with nomination day in the preceding week. During the latter part of February four of the major appointments of the Students' Union are made. These are Director and Business Manager of the Evergreen and Gold, and Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager of the Gateway.

In addition to directing all student activities, the Students' Union is leading the student body in raising the money for the Students' Union Building, which, it is hoped, will be built in the next few years.

Athletic Board

Created through the union of the Men's Athletic Board, Women's Athletic Board, and the Physical Education Department, the University Athletic Board integrates the administration of all sports-promoting organizations on the campus.

The U.A.B. has recently expanded enormously, both in facilities, and active membership. In the term just ended the largest budget ever handled in the Board's history was allocated to 21 active clubs and teams.

This year, international football was introduced to the campus with marked success; and the beginnings of an annual East-West collegiate football schedule became apparent when the Toronto Blues were induced to come West. The W.C.I.A.U.'s brainchild—a gala weekend of women's inter-varsity athletics, went into effect in late February when the fairer sex staged basketball, curling, and fencing competitions in Saskatoon.

Intramural sports were organized for the first time under the direction of Assistant Professor Hughes. Further additions to the already numerous sports clubs making their appearance this year were the Rifle Club, and the reorganized Ski Club.

Student support and interest in major athletic activities has reached an all time high at the U. of A.; a tribute indeed to the aggressive University Athletic Board.

Literary Society

The Literary Association is the co-ordinating body for the Debating Club, Drama Society, International Relations Club, Make Up Club, Political Science Club, Public Speaking Club, and the newly formed Social Service Club.

Representatives to the Students' Union, elected from the Society each year, draw up the "Lit" budget, vote on Council business, and award Literary pins and rings at the end of the year.

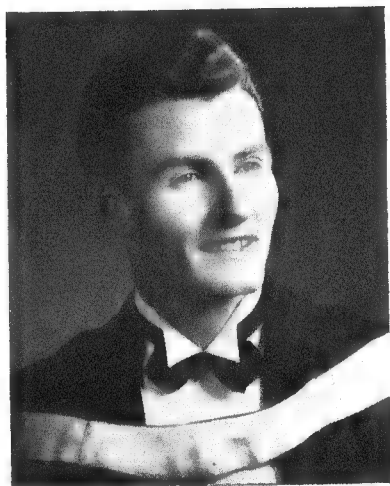

With the increased enrolment at the University, activities of the various clubs under the Literary Association were extended considerably. Although the expansion policies of many clubs were not in keeping with the facilities at hand, members and executives braved the crowded conditions until the end of a year of unparalleled club activity.

The Interyear plays, "Winterset", Hugill Debates, Parliamentary Forum, the meetings and discussions all kept members at home busy; while contact with other universities was maintained and relations greatly strengthened by the McGoun Debates, Intervarsity Drama Festival at Winnipeg, and the numerous Intervarsity conferences.

Musical Society

President
DON BRUNDAGE

The Musical Association embraces the numerous musical organizations on the campus. Its purpose is to unite and encourage all the students who have an interest in music.

The Association is directed by a Board which is composed of the President and the Secretary of the Association itself, the presidents of the various clubs, and the Provost. This year the Board consisted of Don Brundage, President; Virginia Fraser, Secretary; Ted Linskoog, president of the Symphony; Jack Fair, President of the Mixed Chorus; Harcourt Smith, President of the Musical Club; Ted George, President of the Ballet; Lloyd Kjørven, President of the University Band; and Mr. Sparby, the Provost.

Two new members were welcomed into the Association this year, the Ballet and the University Band.

The Musical Association did a very commendable job this year in improving the quality of musical presentations, and in bringing to this University a greater variety in musical entertainment.

Nurses' Council

Since its founding by Miss Agnes McLeod eleven years ago, this club has been a strong bond between the girls in training and those taking their first and fifth years at the University.

In 1943 the club's name was changed from the B.Sc. Nursing Club to the McLeod Club in honor of its capable founder who was at that time serving overseas as a nursing sister. Miss McLeod was one of three members of the first B.Sc. nursing class which graduated in 1927. She was also the first director of the School of Nursing at this University.

This year the McLeod Club was reorganized to include both the B.Sc. Nurses' Club and the University Hospital Students' Union. This active society now exists for the benefit of the numerous "Midnight Cinderellas" of the campus who are constantly confronted by innumerable problems (including ways and means for extending late passes.)

This year, more than ever before the Student nurses of our campus had a very strong, well organized student government and also an executive who provided a good program of social and educational activities. The club furthered considerably the interest in nursing generally and raised the status of nurses on the campus.

This year the nurses were fortunate indeed in moving into an ultra-modern, beautifully furnished residence. With an efficient system of buzzers the antiquated method previously used for calling nurses has been abandoned. Furthermore in having their own switchboard, nurses are not confronted with "the ills of Pembina" insofar as telephone equipment is concerned.

The nurses' home (southwest outpost of the University campus) is reputed to be the most up to date residence of its kind in western Canada.

All social functions undertaken this year proved to be very successful. At the monthly meetings, discussions of business matters, residence problems and future social events of interest were followed by the nurses' favorite pastime—the consumption of refreshments. Initiation of new students into the McLeod Club was accomplished this year at the two Probie Parties held in September and January. A season of highly successful social events was once again climaxed by the Nurses' Graduation Dance held on April 1st. This dance will undoubtedly retain a cherished memory for all the members of the graduating class.

The warm friendly atmosphere and willing co-operation amongst its members assures the McLeod Club of even more success in years to come.

Wauneita Society

"PAYUK UCHE KUKEYOW, KUKEYOW UCHE PAYUK"

As the University term 1947-48 draws to a rapid conclusion, the Wauneita Society again emerges as one of the most successful social organizations on the campus.

In every institution there must be a society which promotes co-operation and goodwill among its members. Here it is ably accomplished by the Wauneita Society, organized in the form of an Indian tribe with a bona fide chief, rites and ceremonies, to which all women students of the campus belong.

Under the capable leadership of Jean Anderson, our tribe of squaws chalked up a total of over seven important social events during the term, in addition to donating heavily to the Students' Union Building Fund.

During Freshman Introduction Week unseasoned squaws were received in the Wauneita room by Miss Simpson and members of the executive. The Freshettes were then invited to a tea party in Pembina, and to a hike to the Outdoor Cabin.

When October rolled around, freshettes became full-fledged squaws at the initiation ceremonies held in typical redskin fashion.

The Wauneita Formal, first of the major functions, was an outstanding success. With six hundred couples attending, the Hallowe'en-themed "Witches' War Dance proved to be one of the social highlights of the fall season.

Wives of all University students were entertained by the worthy Wauneitas at a coffee party held in early November. This gesture paid off good dividends, insofar as it was a successful social event as well as paving the way for the organization of a University Students' Wives Club.

It appears that Wauneita organization ability did not stop here. The president and secretary-treasurer of the Society made a special trip to Calgary to give a helping hand to the girls of Mount Royal College in the formation of a Calgary Wauneita Society.

Much of the success met with by this year's Society is due to the kind co-operation and help of the Honorary President, Mrs. L. G. Thomas. Bouquets are due Wauneitas in general and the executive in particular for the spirit and aggressiveness they have shown this past year in the fulfillment of their many duties. Indeed, they have proven themselves true Wauneitas—

"EACH FOR ALL AND ALL FOR EACH".

Panhellenic Association

Association of Women's Fraternities

Members of Panhellenic have always been available in assisting with student activities on the campus. Throughout the past year, the girls lent a hand in selling tickets for various dances and lectures and aided in the entertainment of the many visitors to the campus.

Together with the other organizations on the campus, a float was entered in the homecoming parade on Thanksgiving weekend. For the benefit of the alums, the girls portrayed the various phases of college life from 1917 to the present.

During the year, various campus groups were entertained by the fraternity women at a series of interesting lectures given by well known university personalities.

To foster scholastic achievement among its members, Panhellenic presented a silver cup to the fraternity with the highest academic average.

In conjunction with the Inter-Fraternity Council, Panhellenic also made a sizable contribution to the Students' Union Building Fund.

Inter-Fraternity Council

The Inter-Fraternity Council is an intermediary body acting between the combined men's Fraternities and the University. Its purpose is to encourage the most complete personal development of its members, intellectually, physically, and socially, and to ensure that Fraternities be responsible for a positive contribution to the primary functions of the University.

It is the sincere desire of this body to further the progress and purpose of fraternities on our Alberta campus by maintaining their respective memberships at standards in keeping with the ideals of young men seeking a higher education for the betterment of themselves, their University and their country.

Radio Society

A long-anticipated revision of the constitution created an active Radio Society out of the previously theoretical Radio Directorate. In its first full year of operation, many of the rough spots encountered were neatly eliminated by president Jack Craine and his efficient executive.

Broadcasting from station CKUA, the Radio Society held three quarter-hour programs weekly. These featured groups of University artists every Tuesday evening, a sports review on Thursday, and a summary of the week's Varsity news each Friday. In addition to the scheduled local programmes, and the campus dance broadcasts; several network features were arranged. Association with the Western University Radio Federation made possible a narration of the history of the University set to music by the Mixed Chorus, as well as the presentation of a novel quiz show over the C.B.C. network.

Among the many people who made these broadcasts possible were: Betty Bothwell—Program Director, Ed. Stack—Chief Announcer, Bert Strum—Chief Technician, Jack Kirkconnell—Business Manager and Mary Bain, Secretary. Orest Rudko headed the writing group, Richmond Olson and Vi Ulasovetz shared the chairmanship of the drama group, while Jack Winterton acted as music director of the society.

With plans for a modern studio in the still embryonic Students' Union Building, the Radio Society is looking forward to wider horizons and even greater opportunities in years to come.

The yearbook of the University of Alberta has grown from a small twenty page annual put out by the Gateway to a 360 page volume, of which 4400 copies were printed this year at a cost of $26,000.

This year's director, like all other directors in the past, felt that the production of the book would run smoothly; however with the increasing costs and a stationary budget, trouble was bound to come. To overcome this the size of the book was cut considerably; at the same time an effort being made to keep the quality at its same high level.

Considerable time has been spent in planning for the future, and it is hoped that the yearbooks in coming years will benefit by our efforts. It was with the realization that all yearbook staffs across the country have had their difficulties that we plunged into the work of production.

To run as large an enterprise as the yearbook entirely on voluntary help, and at the same time attempt to obtain a University degree, is no small task, in fact it has been only with the co-operation of the staff that such an undertaking has been possible. To the staff whose pictures appear on these pages goes the credit for this production as well as the oft said "Thanks" of the directors.

Although we have had our trials and tribulations, they have been over-shadowed by the cheerfulness and unselfish co-operation that exists in our office.

If in years to come this book brings back memories of your Varsity term of 1947-48, we feel that the many hours spent in its publication will not have been in vain.

Telephone Directory

The ninth annual University Telephone Directory turned out to be the largest one printed to date. Its one hundred and twelve pages included the names of well over four thousand students.

The directory is distributed free of charge to the entire student body and University staff; publication costs being met by a Students' Union subsidy.

During the past few years, this booklet has proven to be of increasing value, until now it forms an indispensable part of every student's private literature. In addition to the telephone numbers and addresses of all registered students, the Directory contained phone numbers of prominent Student Union officials, club presidents, fraternities, advisers, and other officials.

The tremendous job of compiling, sorting, arranging, editing, and proof reading was made possible only by the unceasing efforts of chief assistant Phil Campbell and the girls from Pembina. They gave freely of their time for three hectic weeks in order to get the phone book into the hands of the students at the earliest possible moment.

BOB COOK
Director

This year saw for the first time, a great step towards co-ordination of student publications on this campus.

Close co-operation existed in the newly set up directorate which guided publication photography. The director of photography is appointed by a three man board consisting of the Director of the Yearbook, the Editor-in-Chief of the Gateway, and the President of the Camera Club. The staff is comprised of Director, Assistant director and from six to ten student photographers. No pay is received by any member of the staff, although certain members receive points under the Students' Union award system.

Perhaps one of the outstanding features of this year's Gateway was the increase in both quality and quantity of photographic work. This was almost entirely due to the new photograph set-up.

Many were the trials of the photographers as the publications kept pushing for more pictures and prints of different sizes.

This year the photography department got away to a fairly good start with larger darkroom facilities, a new commercial enlarger and a crew of enthusiastic workers.

Much trouble was encountered at first with small cameras. However, shortly after Christmas a new three hundred and fifty dollar Speed Graphic arrived and made picture-taking more of a pleasure.

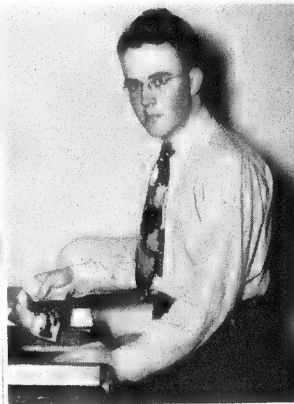

As the year progressed and accomplishments mounted, members of the photography department could boast of the knowledge and experience gained in the many enjoyable hours of picture-chasing.

The Gateway

Subscribers to this bi-weekly publication range all the way from graduates and lowly undergrads, to the faculty and newspaper offices throughout the province. This diverse group of readers demands a publication containing a wide variety of material; creating an almost insurmountable problem for an already overworked staff.

With a circulation of five thousand copies, the 1947-48 Gateway topped all previous records in its thirty-eight years of publication. Circulation Manager, Elwyn Freeman, had an extremely difficult job to perform, which he discharged as ably as circumstances permitted.

The occasional periods of quiet around the office this year were due to a number of causes. Chief amongst them was the dropping away of a certain number of the staff as outside activities and study demands increased.

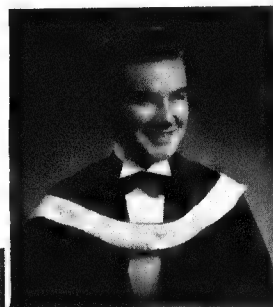

Response to the Gateway's lively letter column brightened every issue and roused student interest in a diversity of student affairs. Student officials co-operated magnificently with the staff in publicizing campus activities.

Dick Sherbaniuk, Tuesday Editor, was well supported by Bruce Powe and a hard working editorial staff. His editions were notable for timely picture layouts which more than adequately publicized campus events and expressed campus opinion.

Colin Murry, Friday Editor, was recompensed for the loss of Don Duff, when Lois Hill stepped in to fill the gap. Colin did an excellent job of reporting Council activities and previewing week-end events.

The Gateway

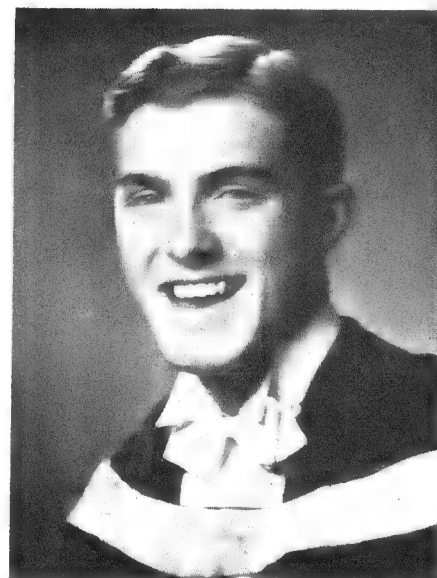

Herb Laycraft, as Features Editor, managed to gather together a fine group of writers including such notables as Dick Gordon, the inimitable H. V. Weekes, Don Smith, Gordon Peacock and a host of others.

The Gateway's news policy this year has been both ambitious and enterprising. Every activity was presented on its pages, and all happenings on other Canadian campuses which the staff felt would be of interest to Alberta students were covered by the mail dispatches and telegraph news of the Canadian University Press.

The Gateway has made great strides during its long struggle, from a small quarterly magazine of 1910, to a present full size newspaper. One of its primary functions in its earlier years was the production of a yearbook as its final issue. This publication was set up on its feet in 1920 and has grown to become the largest single student enterprise on the campus. The 1920's marked an era which boasted of the advance of the illustrious "Casserole" to the rank of a leading gossip column. The appearance of "The Tiger", and "Yeheudii", in the 40's stimulated considerable interest in campus life and particularly in "under cover" campus love affairs.

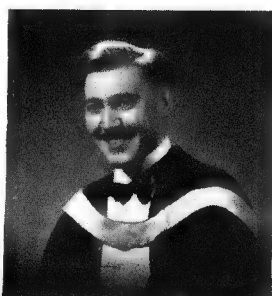

The year 1948 saw still another advance when literary articles were discontinued in the Gateway to be set up in a new quarterly publication "Stet".

The foregoing is evidence in part of the tremendous growth the Gateway has undergone in the past decade—a tribute indeed to its energetic staffs and to a progressive University.

Stet

This year a new publication called "Stet" made its debut on the campus. This quarterly was designed by the Gateway staff and the Students' Union to carry the heavier literary material produced by members of the student body.

Sponsored by the Gateway and financed out of their three thousand dollar surplus, Stet is adequately filling a long-standing gap in campus publications.

The name "Stet" originated in the proofreader's term meaning "Let it Stand". C. E. Brisbin, a third year Arts student was ably assisted by Irene Bowerman in turning out the first issue of this University magazine.

Due to the lack of staff, and enthusiasm of the general student body, only one issue was completed this year, however in coming years we are certain "Stet" will advance to the position of one of Canada's finest college magazines.

Alarm

In a dimly lighted, paper-strewn office in the basement of Athabasca Hall a day editor pensively picks away at the keys of his typewriter—and another edition of the Alarm, the campus's daily publication is in the making.

The Alarm first started ringing last year, under the direction of Maurice Roe, for the purpose of informing the students of coming drives, elections, and social events. It has now matured into an almost indispensable aid to extra-curricular activities, with its postings from day to day of scheduled events. A staff of over 30 industrious students, working under the direction of editor-in-chief Doug Sherbaniuk, maintained the daily circulation of 2,000 copies, which were distributed to Arts, Medical and the Education Buildings, and to the High School. Each day's material was selected from items submitted directly to the office, and from those collected in the "Alarm Boxes", situated in Arts, Ed, and Med. The official items were spiced with choice jokes, usually authored by Bob Hoare and Bob Hatfield, and the occasional cartoon, from the dripping nibs of Fred Marshall and Mary Lou Lister. Pressed for space daily by the flood of important announcements, those in charge of publications were unable to supply the demand for editorials. However, on several occasions editors Bill Egbert and Clark Leavitt made the Alarm even more dynamic with their literary contributions. Elaine Brown, typist in chief, was of inestimable value in maintaining the high standard of the publication, as was Bob Eady, to whom we owe the Alarm heading.

VIRGINIA WEBB
Class Historian

Class History

What is history?

According to the Oxford dictionary it is a picture of an event or of a series of incidents. In recalling the "History of the Class of '48" we can paint a series of colorful pictures of our own Varsity days: of the green and gold striped-crepepaper ankle socks we wore as Freshies; the Engineers' invasion of Pembina we watched as Sophomores; the unforgettable snake dance, reported to have tied up traffic—a highlight of our Junior year; and finally in our Senior year, the "new look" as modelled by the boys at WawWaw.

Our most outstanding recollection is perhaps that of line-ups; line-ups for registration, line-ups at the bookstore, line-ups at the post office. We even had to line up to eat. And we've been doing it ever since! After the first bewildering week, a week of feasts, dances, and gaiety on the one hand; and the feeling of insignificance and unimportance impressed upon us by the apparent wisdom of our Sophomore "friends", on the other hand, lectures seemed rather to interfere with the new life to which we were being introduced. But initiation into the Tribe Wauneita soon made the girls, at least, realize we were really students of the University of Alberta, with all that the term implies.

During 1944-45 a number of hours of war service were expected of each student on the campus. The freshettes took military drill; upper-classwomen worked in the canteens, knitted for the Red Cross, or attending Social Service and Recreational Leadership lectures. Sixty hours constituted a year's work. The men trained in the COTC, the University Air Squadron, or the University Naval Training Division. The Canadian University Returned Men's Association, Curma, as it is better known, was organized to assist in the welfare and rehabilitation of the servicemen and women upon their return to the campus.

Intervarsity sport came back into the picture again when the Golden Bears, for the first time in seventeen years, brought home the Hardy trophy after a two-game series with Saskatchewan, and the basketball team proudly bore home the Rigby trophy. We were on the upgrade in the line of sports. The Debating team returned the McGoun cup to Alberta's trophy case, after an eleven-year absence. The Varsity Show, a new venture in musical entertainment, gave a successful performance. The Mixed Chorus, which has become our Ambassador of Goodwill throughout the province, had its birth. And was our play, "The Boor", not judged the best in the Interyear Play Competition! All in all it was a good year.

September of '45 saw us return to Varsity as upperclassmen, and in our ranks were many ex-servicemen. The war, both in the Pacific and in Europe, had ended during the summer, and the prospect of the return of many war-curtailed activities and functions brightened our hopes.

Intercollegiate Hockey re-entered the sports field after a five-year absence during the war, the Golden Bears retaining the Halpenny trophy for the fourteenth consecutive year. The Women's Senior Basketball team, with the help of Pandy, their mascot, brought home the Cecil Race trophy after a trip to Winnipeg. The first Intervarsity Drama Festival was held at the University of Alberta, groups from the Universities of Saskatchewan, Manitoba, and British Columbia taking part. The Mixed Chorus, after their excellent campus presentation, made a successful trip to Calgary.

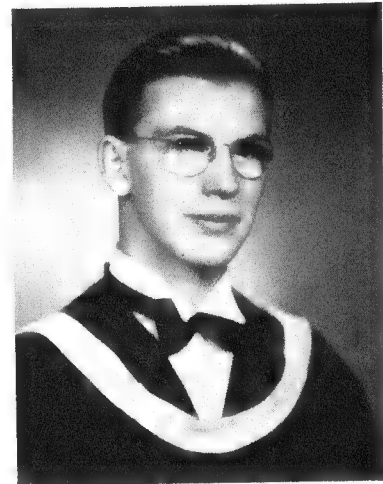

The students in the Arts and Science Faculty organized their own faculty club and held a novelty dance in the form of a masquerade, the Mardi Gras. And in the academic field the University assumed the responsibility for all teacher training. In the midst of all this renewed activity, came, in January, five hundred more ex-servicemen to swell our numbers. If we thought the walls were bulging before, we now knew there was no doubt. More space had to be found, so in our midst, like mushrooms, the Dawson Creek and Quonset Huts sprang into being. The Ballet Club and the Symphony Orchestra were organized and before the end of the term each gave a performance of unusually high merit. The Hardy, Rigby, and Halpenny trophies were returned to Alberta. It was a year of outstanding activity.

At last, our Senior year: Registration at its peak—over 4,700; the Toronto football team travelled west to meet the Golden Bears (and to defeat them); second homecoming was bigger and better than ever; Alberta triumphed once more in intervarsity hockey, rugby, and basketball. The Mixed Chorus gave five performances—three here—and two in Calgary. The Ballet gave three performances here. The Symphony gave two. Each of these three organizations surpassed their fine efforts of the previous year. A new contest made its appearance in the form of the Canada-wide Beautiful Baby Contest. The challenge came from U.B.C., but Alberta won! The building programme became more of a reality. The east wing of the Medical Building followed the completion of the west wing, and we had to make a detour around the excavation for the foundation of the new library. Class of '48 holds a unique place in the University's graduation history, two Convocations the result of its unprecedented size.

And now as we look back upon the past four years, years that have gone so quickly, we know that we have been students in a period during which the University has undergone great expansion and progress, and we hope that we have been prepared by our studies and our outside interests, to enter the business and professional world, and to take our places as useful members of the community. Only the future can tell.

Valedictory

At this time we linger that we may view the panorama of the past few years. In the same landscape, those in different occupations, and with different training, see those features which are most nearly related to their several habitual environments. So it is in our contemplations of our university years. Each graduating student especially observes and appreciates, in the light his mode of thought supplies, such of its features and incidents as are most in harmony with his individual outlook.

ELDON FOOTE
Valedictorian

Today, all of us warmly share the pangs of regret yet eager curiosity, which pervades a graduating class. However, the various associations and meanings we have resolved, assume a prominence in our respective fields of mental vision, dependent upon their relation to our experience. Ours has been a class of infinitely contrasting experience; from the teen-age girl to the woman who served overseas with the armed forces, from the beardless youth contemplating his next date to the seasoned veteran now engaged in the campaign of rearing a family.

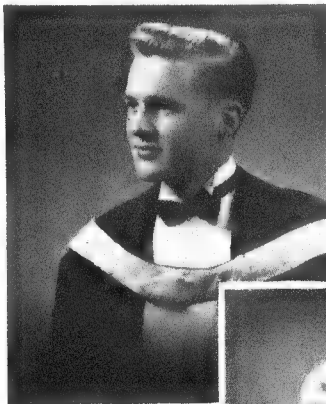

However, to all of us, the vistas that open before us are the fulfilment of the hours of toiling, hoping and striving that have gone before. With every effort, attainment of the immediate goal of graduation same imperceptibly closer, each success and each failure a stepping stone toward the ultimate end.

It would of course be wring to infer that all has been dull grinding. Humans are prone to remember their light-hearted times to the exclusion of those weary hours of plodding, and without a doubt most of our retrospections will bring into focus the class parties, the athletic contests and the host of pleasant associations made apart from the curricular requirements.

But now we must turn our eyes to look at the years which lie ahead. In our hands lies the power to mould a destiny for succeeding generations, from a civilization which balances upon the greatest crisis of our time.

In our few years, perhaps we have learned enough of humanity's long travail as reflected in history, science, literature, law and philosophy, to indicate the way to use our minds to grapple with and find constructive answers to these problems. However, before we can humbly believe that we have attained anything of true culture, our individual consciousness must be satisfied with its own interior happiness and peace. Unless each of us strives within himself to achieve those ideals of tolerance, understanding and friendship which truly mark a man, we have violated a trust placed in us by those who do not enjoy our liberties. May it never be said, "He failed!"

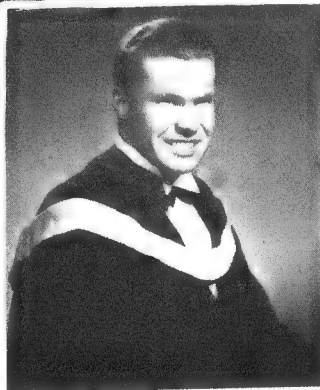

Senior Class Executive

GORDON COATES
President

BETH TANNER
Vice-President

KEITH HENRY
Secretary-Treasurer

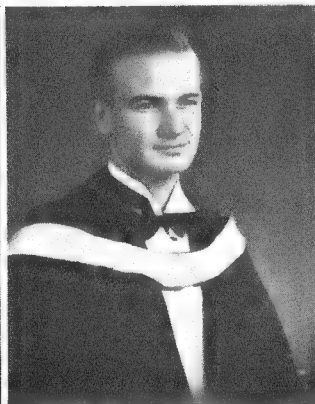

Traditionally, the most prominent executive positions of the student body are held by seniors, and every year the graduating class leaves, egotistically wondering who will carry on after graduation. For those remaining there is always a feeling of loss, as when the star athlete of the team graduates. However, when we the class of '48 look back, we realize that as each class graduates it leaves behind a maturing and even more capable student body. We all went to the Senior Prom and the Football games, the Frosh Formal, the Junior Prom and the Mixed Chorus. Everywhere it was apparent that the extra-curricular affairs of state would be left in capable and trustworthy hands.

During our short stay at the University some of us concentrated on our studies, trying desperately to absorb the large volume of material presented to us. Others endeavoured to supplement the more formal education by spending some time working on the Students' Union, the Yearbook, the Gateway and other organizations.

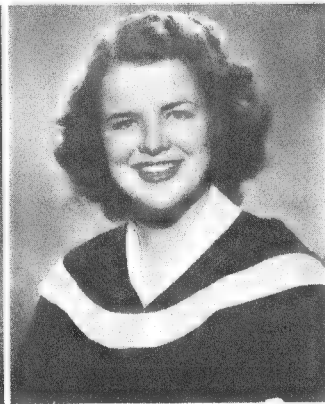

This year, many memories were brought back to us at the senior dance. These memories, we are sure will linger with us as we now leave our Alma Mater and take our places in society.

Agriculture Club

The largest membership in its history was the signal for the Ag Club to begin its finest year to date.

Commencing with an introductory banquet for the freshmen, the club's social activities continued with a gay Hallowe'en dance in October, an outstanding formal in January, the fun-packed mammoth barn dance in March and lastly the graduation banquet near the end of the term.

Liberally sprinkled throughout the year were the serious and educational activities for which the club is prominent. Several fine speakers were obtained; a student-faculty relations committee was organized; and the climax of the year arrived for many with the annual field day. Bigger and better than before, with a fine prize list and keen competition, the field day was perfectly capped by the big barn dance.

Doug Low, Bob Stone, Vance Molsberry, Margaret MacKay, Jerry Jones, Al Harboway, Urban Pittman, Paul Melynchin

Interfaculty sports saw vigorous club sponsored entries upholding the finest traditions of the Aggies.

Added all together, the sum total indicated a banner year for the Agriculture Club that will be difficult to duplicate.

Chem 43 and Botany are forgotten as the Aggies enjoy their Annual Ag Round-Up at the Trocadero

Miss Simpson weighs in at St. Steve's Dance.

A large collage of black and white photographs. The top section features a grid of 40 individual portraits of young men in suits. The middle section contains several larger photos: a man in a lab coat working with a specimen, a group of people in a classroom setting, and a man in a suit. The bottom section continues the grid of individual portraits, with a small photo of a person in a field on the far right.

Seated—Joseph Stratton, Bill Sinclair, Bill James, John Ballachy, F. R. Mathews.

In the Law Library and the future "Sam Spades" of 1960.

Law Club

Getting under way with a smoker early in the term, the membership of the Law Club reached an all time high in 1947-48. Just before Christmas the Club Roosevelt was taken over for a mixed party which was exceptionally well attended.

The highlight of the term was the annual banquet which was held on February 23 at the Macdonald Hotel in honor of the graduating class, with Bill Sinclair presiding as toast master. The Club was honored to have among its guests the Honourable Horace Harvey, Chief Justice of Alberta, other members of the Supreme Court, and members of the faculty. Moreover, since this year's graduating class in Law is the twenty-fifth since the Faculty was formed, the Club invited the members of the first graduating class.

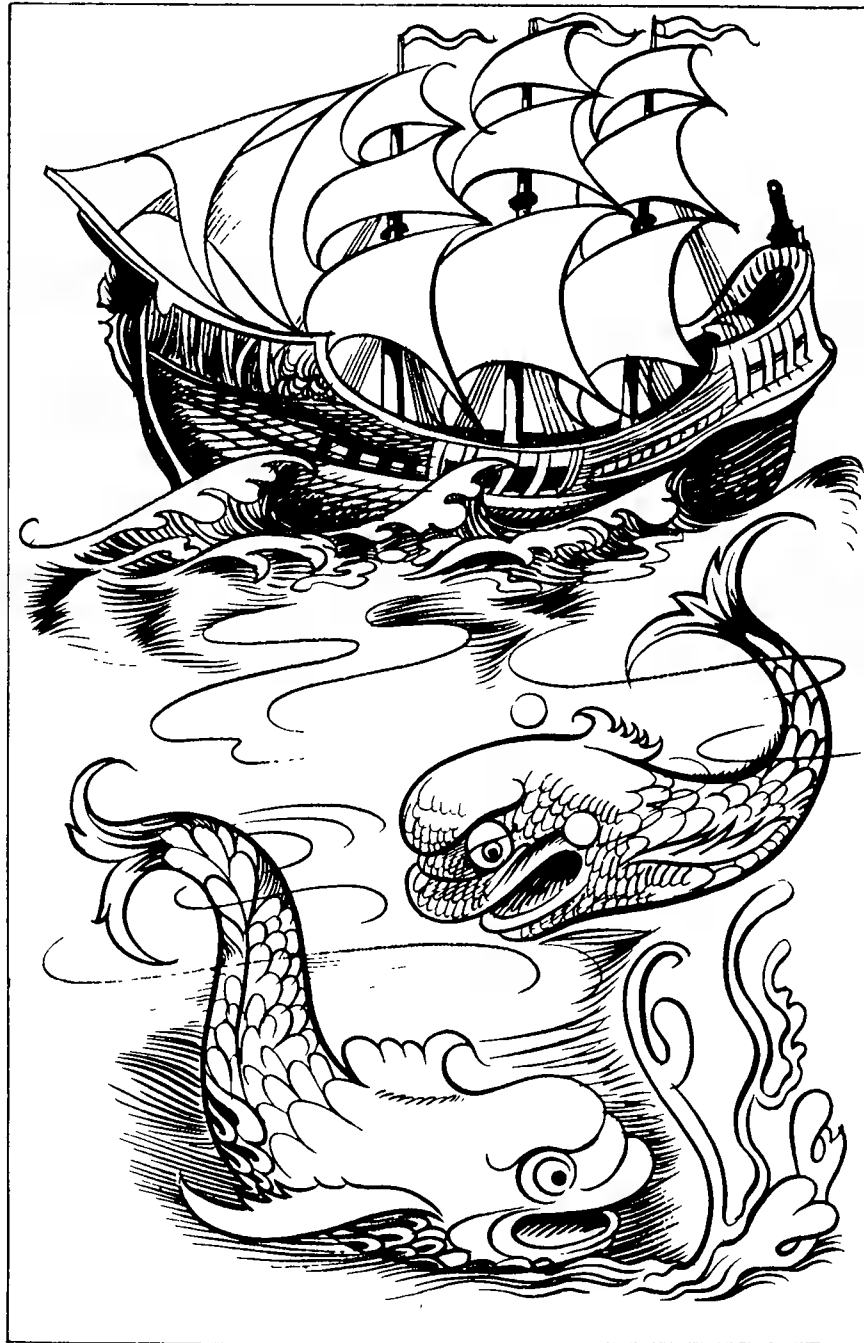

Many of these men were able to attend the affair and their stories and vivid recollections of earlier years contributed much to the success of the evening.

Other events worthy of note included a golf tournament in the fall, followed by a bowling tournament during the winter months. In addition to these the Club was well represented in Interfac sports, sponsoring teams in the three major sports, soccer, basketball and hockey. The executive is to be congratulated on a very successful and eventful year.

A great thing is a great book; but a greater thing than all is the tale of a great man. —Disraeli.

Commerce

Commerce Club

The Commerce Club this year got away to a good start with a rousing "Mixer" in Athabasca Gym. Attended by a great many Frosh Commerce students anxious to meet the other members of the Club, this party gave a foretaste of better things to come.

Throughout the year several suppers were held, at which Club members listened to several interesting talks by prominent guest speakers.

It has long been a custom of the club to hold several dances during the year, and this year both the first and second year students played host to other members of the Commerce Club. The final item before the Christmas exams was a Commerce party sponsored by the second-year students. After Christmas the first year students played host at a party given in February.

Then it was March, and time for the big event of the year—the Commerce Club banquet and dance at the Mac. This has long been noted as one of the best dances given by any club on the campus, and this year it was even better. Everybody that attended entered into the "spirit" of things, and a rip-roaring time was had by everyone, spelling fine to another eventful year of the Commerce Club.

Commerce students proved that preparing to be future Chartered Accountants and Book-keepers didn't limit their activities to figures on paper; their many activities during the year has gradually given them a reputation on par with another well known predominantly male faculty.

Seated—Ken Nelson, Bill Rich, Jean McBride, Vern Millard, Margaret Mulloy, Charles Flaherty, Graham Thompson.
Standing—Edward Stack, Frank Mair.

Education Undergrad Society

Spirit, energy, and wholehearted co-operation have made possible the many activities for which the E.U.S. has become noted.

Starting the term with the gay and colorful "Latin Quarter", the club members enjoyed themselves with the Hallowe'en Dance, the numerous skating parties, Radio Show, and the crowded Graduation Formal.

Sport activities saw Education students winning the girls Interfaculty Basketball Competition, as well as taking two of the three women's major athletic awards: Jack Perry, a third year Education student, was voted the year's most outstanding athlete.

The Professional Emphasis Committee, which is responsible for work emphasizing the professional training in the Faculty, conducted a series of informative talks and discussions, as well as actively supporting a drive to gain public support of legislation in the interests of better teacher pensions.

Other interesting developments included the carnival football float entered by the club, and the fêting of the Montana Normal School rugby team by fellow Educationists at an informal banquet.

Sitting—E. St. Pierre, Marcel Asquin, Edith Cardiff, Earnest Hodgson, Gwen Morrison, Marion Irwin.

Standing—Harry Kiyooka, Ed. Kemp, Gordon Peacock, Harold McNeil, R. Davies.

Missing—Bob George, Victor Verholst.

Engineering Students' Society

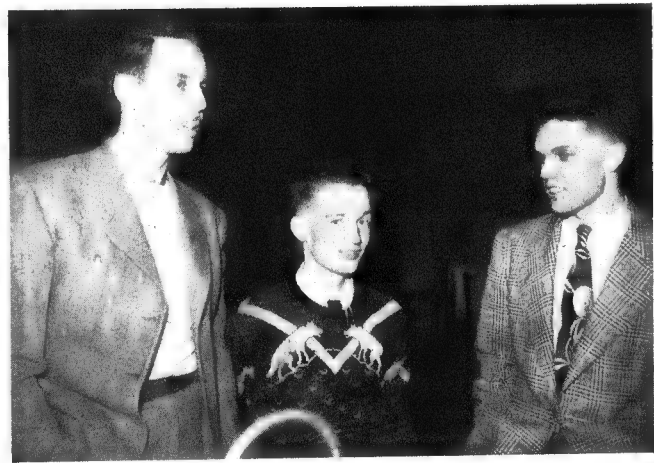

With the largest enrolment of Engineers in campus history the E.S.S. had one of its most eventful years. Meetings were held every three weeks where talks and films on the various engineering subjects were given. The guest speakers included Lt. Colonel Grant, President of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

The Queen campaign was the most hotly contested in E.S.S. history and was climaxed by the appearance of eight candidates at a regular meeting. The engineers conducted themselves in true style and whistled only at the most noticeable things.

Although the Drill Hall still remains, the tenth Annual Engineers Ball is over. Queen of the year, Pat Scott, was crowned at the most successful Engineers Ball in the history of U. of A.

In the football parade the Engineers float won the cup which the Aggies had donated.

The Engineers interfac hockey team came through in true form, copping interfac honors. In basketball the team was just edged out in the finals.

Treasurer, Harry Newton; President, Bob Spencer;
Vice-President, Ned Newhall

The Webb Memorial Papers were good this year and first prize went to Jim Wallbridge. Dave Burnham and Bob Reynolds were close behind.

The year was climaxed by the annual elections and banquet at the Mac. A very capable executive for the 1948-49 session includes President Don Dick and Vice-President Harold Morrison.

The stomach is a slave that must accept everything that is given to it, but which avenges wrongs as slyly as does the slave.
—Emile Souvestre.

House Ec.

To boille the chickens with the marybones,
And poudre marchant tart and galyngale.

The House Eccer's and their men enjoying the House Ec. Formal

House Ec. Club

Under the capable leadership of Betty Harris, the House Ec. club has again established itself as one of the busiest organizations on the campus.

"Nutrition is our business" was the slogan under which the House Ec. float travelled in the football parade.

Holding a fashion show with fifteen members of the club modelling fall and winter fashions was one of the highlights of the year.

During the Red Cross blood donor's campaign, the House Ec. "food brigade" was always on hand with delicacies to soothe the souls of those brave people who cheerfully gave their 350 c.c.'s.

Dancing to gay music and soft lights, we held our annual formal on March 5th, in the Education Building.

Hon. President, MISS H. McINTYRE; President, BETTY HARRIS; Vice-President, NORMA SMITH;
Sec.-Treas., PEGGY KENDRICK; Frosh. Rep., LOIS SKORUPSKI; Sports Rep., JOAN ORNOLD.

The 1947-48 term began with a most successful informal dance at the Trocadero, held in conjunction with the Dental Undergrad Society to welcome the first year students.

In November, Ernie Shortliffe, Al Hepburn and Bob Robertson attended the 11th annual conference of the Canadian Association of Medical Students and Internes (CAMS) in Kingston. A joint committee of the Canadian Medical Association, CAMS and Canadian Hospital Association was formed for the purpose of investigating that well known problem of interne economics.

After Christmas, a proposed change of course was presented to the students for discussion, and later was accepted by an overwhelming majority. Starting immediately, this course is designed to graduate students after four years of medicine, making all interning post-graduate. The required number of teaching hours will be obtained by starting certain years at the beginning of September, and lengthening the term to June 15th.

At M.U.S. meetings this year several guest speakers were heard, and weekly films on a large variety of subjects were seen.

The annual Med. Ball was held in March in honor of two graduating classes, both fourth and fifth years receiving their M.D.'s in the spring. The annual Medical banquet and dance was held in the Macdonald Hotel, and was a great success. The guest speaker of the evening was Dr. W. F. Gillespie.

Dean of Dentistry
 W. S. HAMILTON

With the largest registration in the history of the Faculty of Dentistry, the Dental Undergraduate Society has had a successful year. Through the able leadership of Dean Hamilton and staff, classes and laboratories reached a successful completion despite crowded conditions and lack of equipment. Staff and students alike are looking forward to the completion of the new Medical wing. This wing will afford a new fifty chair clinic. It is hoped that this clinic will be operating at the beginning of the next term.

Highlight of social functions of the society was the annual banquet held at the Macdonald Hotel last March. A function of great interest was the M.U.S.-D.U.S. dance held at the Trocadero. This dance was well attended by both faculties and brought about a closer relationship and understanding between the two societies.

No, Doc., not again! Kjørven has Bray begging for mercy.

The average person's nightmare—a well equipped dental lab.

Tennis Enthusiasts—Doug Sherbaniuk and Margaret Coates

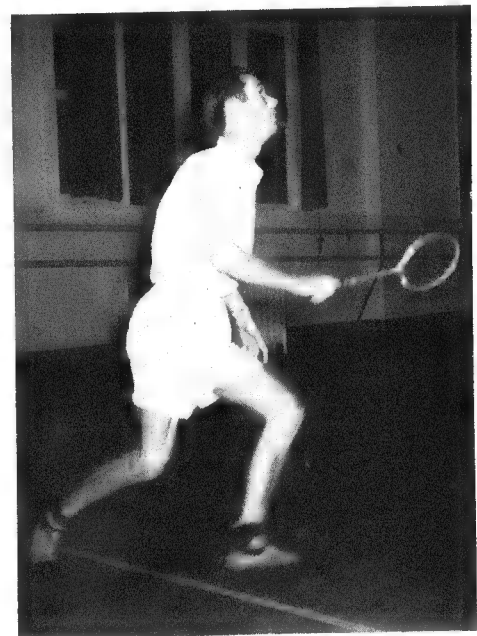

Although no tournament was held, summer students displayed a definite rising interest in the bird game.

GOLF

The lure of the golf links again proved too much for many a bewildered student. Steady Jimmie Whitlaw and other low-score artists will vouch for the fact that Varsity was well represented on the local greens.

TENNIS

The courts behind Pembina Hall have been the setting for many bitterly fought contests, as the greats and not-so-greats of Summer session begrudgingly took time out from studies to chase those elusive bounding balls. Thus passed six of the most hectic weeks that these red shale rectangles have ever known.

FASTBALL

Keen competition and good fun highlighted this summer's fastball. Lucille Beingessner and her team topped the girl's circuit, while men's honors were taken by Len Pallesen's crew. Under the capable supervision of Elsie McFarland and Flo Rimmer, a successful season of fastball was finished off in great style with girls' and men's all-star teams meeting in an exciting double-header.

BOWLING

The twelve bowling teams made up of enthusiastic summer school alley fans kept the balls rolling one night a week. Such stalwarts as Terry Soldan, Esther Lakusta and Judy Aoki attained scores around an enviable 300 mark.

BADMINTON

Monday and Wednesday evenings saw the stage set for mixed badminton in the Drill Hall.

Activities

Fun and relaxation were the keynote of summer session activities with bi-weekly dances sponsored by the social committee under the leadership of Jim Campbell. The social whirl was appropriately climaxed by the novel semi-formal entitled "Construction Capers".

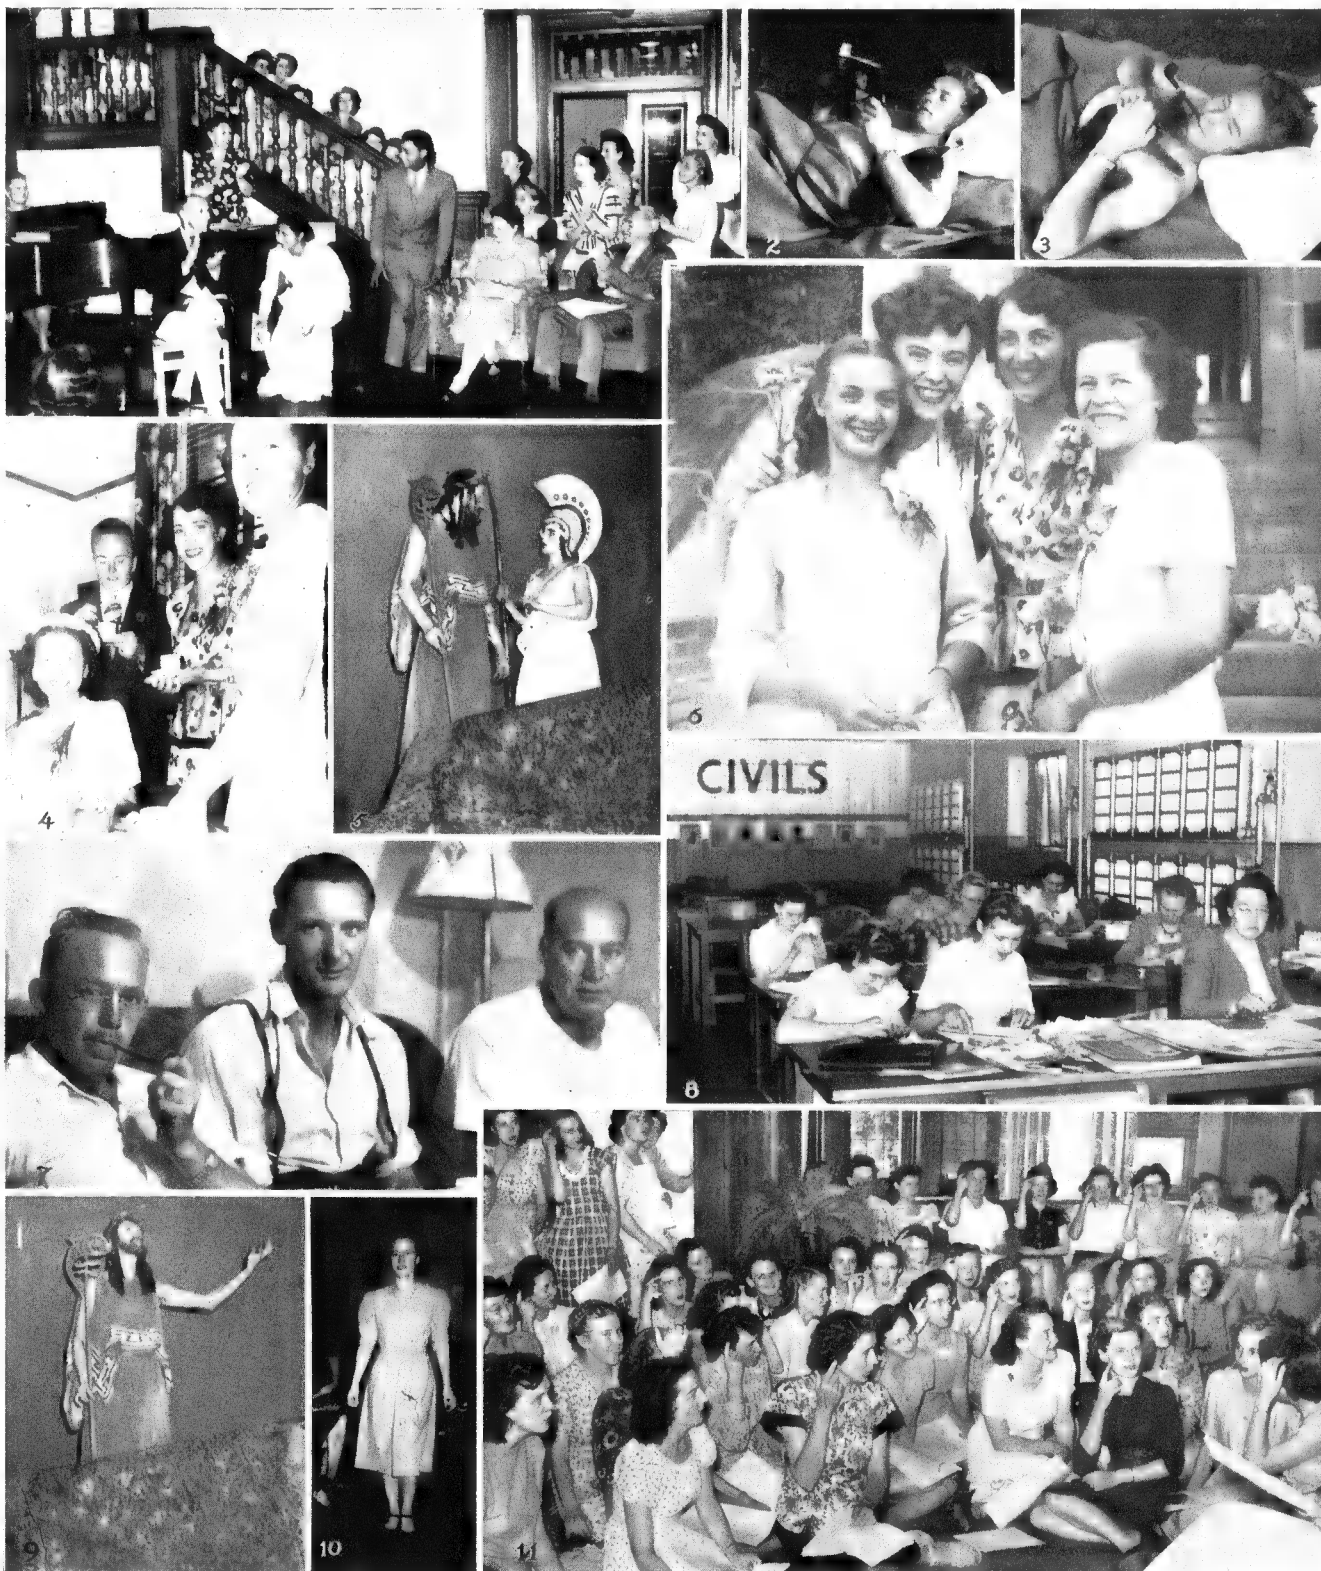

Thespians, under the instructions of Mrs. Elizabeth Sterling Haynes and Mr. Frank Holroyd, advanced their professional skills in the theatre which appeared on the campus for the first time this summer. After six busy weeks of acting, stagecraft, lighting, and makeup, the classes presented the classic "The Trojan Woman of Euripides", on four consecutive nights.

Political Science Club

The Political Science Club has just completed its most successful year on this campus. With the largest membership it has ever had, the club has become one of our most active organizations. Believing that those who elect our governments should know who they are electing, this group has attempted to show the members of the student body what each of our national political parties stand for. The national party leaders, or leading speakers of each party, have been brought to the campus to speak to the student body. In this way, students have been given a chance to hear these men and to have their many questions answered. Due to the apathy of the majority of the students, and to the rudeness of a small minority, these talks have not been altogether successful.

The second major field of activity for the Political Science Club has been the Mock Parliament. Elections were held with each of the major political parties taking part. After a great deal of difficulty, the Mock Parliament was finally elected and operating. The Liberal Party was in power, although they did not have a clear majority.

Thus the Political Science Club has completed a very successful year on this campus. Many advance plans have been made for next year and the executive hopes to make an even greater success of the year 1948-49.

Running for office: Harold Bronson, Crawford Ferguson, Edgar Gerhart, Finlay McKenzie, Bill Rorke.

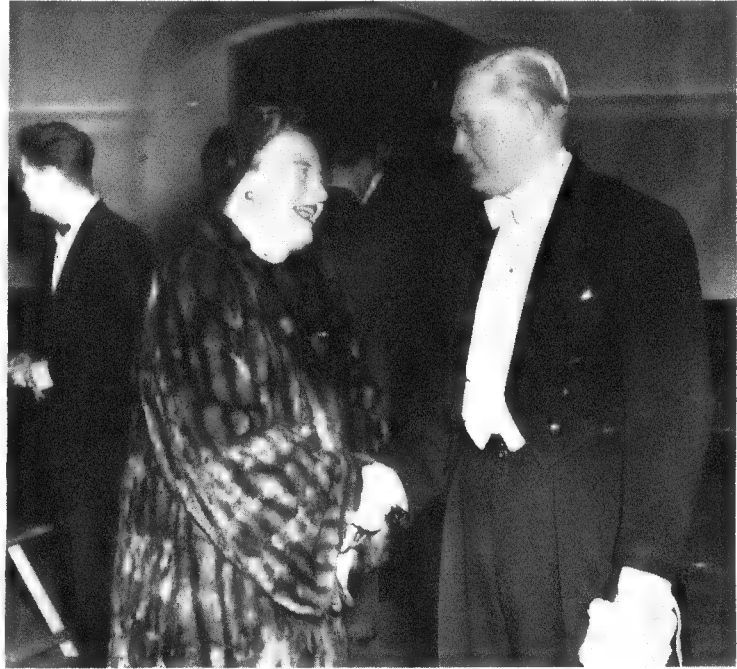

Tim Buck addresses the Public Speaking Club.

Symphony Orchestra

Quoted in musical circles last year as being the "baby" on the campus, the University Symphony Orchestra proved to be one of the major musical events on the calendar for 1948. Under the capable direction of a young dental student, Ted Lindscoog, this group of accomplished musicians gave two excellent concerts in Convocation Hall on January 26 and 27, both before sell-out crowds.

A most ambitious selection of music was chosen by the conductor for these concerts, including excellent renditions of such numbers as Mozart's "Symphony No. 40 in G Minor", Arthur Benjamin's "Jamaican Rhumba" and "La Folia" by Leonard-Corelli. Lawrence Hobson, a young Engineering student, was the violinist in "La Folia" accompanied by an excellent string section. The Overture to the "Barber of Seville" by Rossini was perhaps the most popular piece and proved to be the finale for a well-rounded programme.

The members of the Symphony joined with other clubs in the Musical Association including the Ballet, Mixed Chorus and Musical Club, in their annual banquet and dance in the Education Gym on March 12th. The "long-haired" musicians let their hair down on this occasion and a hilarious time was had by all.

Congratulations to Ted Lindscoog for a fine performance.

Music Maestro!—An entertaining evening.

Mixed Chorus

For this organization, 1948 has proven to be its "boom year," for, under the capable leadership of its new conductor, Richard S. Eaton, the Chorus hit an all-time high in providing musical entertainment for the campus. Over 2,000 enthusiastic people attended the concerts given on February 2nd, 3rd and 4th, and these three successful nights in Con Hall were followed by a trip to Calgary under the auspices of the Cosmopolitan Club of that city.

The Mixed Chorus was 140 strong this year, the largest chorus of its kind in Canada. Much of the credit is due to its young, but very talented conductor

Richard Eaton, who came to the University as a new member of the Fine Arts staff and graciously took over the leadership from Gordon Clark. It is hoped that Mr. Eaton will be able to continue in this capacity as conductor for some time since his popularity and ability cannot help but mean an even better chorus in the future.

Social Activities included two parties held early in the year followed by a banquet in Calgary and a final banquet and dance in Edmonton on March 12th. Also, they appeared on the CBC on February 16th and sang for the members of Parliament at their annual banquet on March 8th.

Co-Ed Club

The girls have a round table discussion ——— Subject ? ? ? ?
 Standing: Ailsa Walker, Sheila Forrest, Marjorie Hammett.
 Seated: Jean Moffat, Marjorie Lee, Joy Russell.

The Co-Ed Club was formed during the War Years when Pembina was closed to women students who had no common meeting ground. Since the need for the organization seems to have passed, and so few people are now being served, we have decided to dissolve the Co-Ed Club this year.

The term's activities began with a Reception for Freshettes in Pembina Lounge. After a chat about a program for the year, the girls hurried off to give a send off to the Toronto Football team.

A hike to the Outdoor Cabin for a Hallowe'en party complete with games, coffee and fortune telling was the next project. In January we combined with the Wauneita in a skating party and sock dance in the Ed. Gym.

Supper parties in the Cafeteria interspersed other activities and gave us an opportunity to become better acquainted. Highlight of the year's activities was an Easter tea, given by Miss MacFarlane our Honorary President.

Although the club is now being disbanded, we feel that it has served a useful purpose and the years spent were not in vain.

Newman Club

The Newman Club of this year carried on from the running start made by last year's club to gain members. Activities of the year were many and varied. Three big dances at Hallowe'en, Christmas, and Valentine's Day were the large expression of the smaller get-togethers held every Sunday evening throughout the year. Debates and speakers gave the intellectuals a treat and the ordinary members something to think about. An Oral French group met once a week and often one could hear French being spoken with a brogue. Every second Tuesday the girls of the Club held a coffee party and these affairs were very successful and highly popular among the fair sex.

All in all it was a good year, and the Newman slogan became a reality—"Sunday nite is Newman Nite."

Public Speaking Club

President: George Camp.
Vice-President: Stewart Montgomery.
Secretary-Treasurer: Bob Jones.

The Public Speaking Club enjoyed a most successful year under the enthusiastic guidance of the President, George Camp. The main theme underlying the varied programs stressed the idea that practice alone makes a public speaker a good one. Starting with mere impromptu self-introductions to the Club, the members' speaking facilities grew until each member could vie for the honors in any speaking contest. Although the material presented was not under criticism, many interesting and enlightening speeches were heard throughout the year; they ranged in length from two minutes to fifteen minutes.

The methods of presentation by the individual speakers were criticized by Mr. John A. McIntyre, an accomplished speaker and active member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Edmonton. "Johnny" faithfully attended the various meetings of the Club in the interests of furthering good public speaking among University graduates.

Mr. David Wood gave special instruction and facilitated practices for radio and other microphone work. Records were cut of speeches given in radio station CKUA, and a demonstration of the Magnecorder dictating machine gave the members additional practice in these modern uses of public speaking.

The Club's activities were climaxed with a banquet where after-dinner speeches were a speciality.

Stewart Montgomery, George Camp, John McIntyre, Bob Jones.

Although the Club's membership this year was only 40, the Photogs achieved enough work to keep 140 members going strong day and night for the better part of the session.

Along with the E. & G. and Gateway regulars who put the Club's new Press Camera and Enlarger through their paces to produce an abundance of prints to meet the demands of the news hounds, the Enthusiasts had an interesting and eventful year.

Lectures and discussions on Color Prints by Mr. Storlee, Photo-Micrography of Natural History subjects by Major Hocking, and expert but kindly print criticism by Charlie Heath, filled out most of the interesting meetings.

In November the Outdoor club invited us to visit their premises and the woods rang to the tune of "How the hickory do you use an exposure meter in these——trees."

January saw three very pretty girls literally hoisted on a pedestal, just to please 20 club portraitists. Many thanks to Misses Robina Neal, Dot Dodds, and Moira Edgington.

Watch the Birdie !!

For the first time to our knowledge, the shutter-bugs surprised and entranced many a student and faculty member alike with the Photo Salon held in January with Professor Glyde's kind permission. From incoming comments and praise it would appear that this year's Photo Club was more than worth while and plans have already been made for an excellent pictorial Salon Exhibition next year.

The newer members picked up the tricks of the trade while more advanced amateurs showed their skills with prints of a near professional quality.

Ballet Club

Standing: Bob George, Marcel Asquin.
Sitting: Cecile Eckenfelder, Mrs. Hughes, Marjory Gans.

This year's ballet was comprised of an enthusiastic group of fifty students under the leadership of Miss Stella Holosko whose three performances showed that a great deal of work was done during the year. A polished and confident ensemble, the ballet more than did justice to Glazounoff's "Les Saisons" and Fokine's "Les Sylphides" which proved to be a more ambitious endeavour than the Nutcracker Suite of the previous year. Costuming and lighting effect on the nights of the performances were faultless and much credit is due to the persons responsible.

The ballet has the distinguishing feature of being the only one of its kind in Canada and the University may well be proud of the accomplishments of its director, Miss Holosko, herself a graduate of the class of '46.

Originally sponsored by the Wauneita Society, the ballet is now "on its own" and no doubt it is here to stay as one of the finer major events of the school year.

Outdoor Club

Early this fall the Outdoor Club members pitched in to clear the hill for winter skiing, and "Pembinites" under Bill Hart's supervision, began redecorating the cabin with gay new curtains and car robes. Any Saturday in October would find 'Sib' and Bill staining the ceiling or splashing bright red paint on the cabin floor, and the coffee and doughnut crew were sure to be out after every work party, to feed the prospective members who were earning their membership.

A major effort and a considerable improvement undertaken by the club this year was the erection of stairs from the cabin to the hill-top. Our thanks go to Pres. Tom Walsh, Gord. Woodley, our master carpenter,

'Red' Williams, Gordie Gore-Hickman, and Tom Mayson, for the fine work they did.

October 31st the weather-man was kind and under a harvest moon club members and their friends went hay-riding. The crowd was so far above expectations that two heats had to be formed; one group awaiting their turn joined in a lively singsong at the cabin which was gayly decorated by 'Sib' and committee in Hallowe'en mode for the occasion,—while the other group went hay-riding.

Our annual winter weekend, January 24 - 25 was a big success. A wonderful crowd turned out for a skating party followed by dancing under soft colored lights at the 'ED' Gym.

Light and Sound

This, the second official year for the Light and Sound Crew, has shown the value of this growing and vital organization.

The crew is made up of students of all faculties and years, and works as a group under the leadership of Norm Parry, the Director. The Crew has made possible many "added effects" at dances, skating parties, athletic events, Freshman Introduction Week, productions of the music and literary societies, and almost all other major events of the year as well as many lesser functions. The girls who took physical education in Athabasca gymnasium may remember crew members setting up equipment for their folk dancing classes. It was a good gag fellas. Yes, even during examinations in the Drill Hall, the professor's "Attention Please" is heard by all, courtesy of the Light and Sound Crew.

Bob Rosser is the man responsible for the founding of the Crew and putting it on a successful basis as an indispensable group, and Norm Parry has carried on very ably since Bob moved on to greater glory.

Varsity Christian Fellowship

Numerous University students have found in the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship a source of encouragement toward vital, practical Christian living. To them the fellowship of others on the campus who are putting eternal values first has provided incentive for a deeper study of "whatsoever things are true" not in the material realm alone, but also in the spiritual.

The 1947 - 48 program of the University of Alberta chapter included weekly Bible study groups and general meetings, daily noon prayer meetings held in St. Stephen's Chapel and the residences, and participation in morning Chapel Services. Operation of the Book Exchange was again undertaken as a service to students. Regular socials, sleigh rides and skating parties provided relief for tired minds as well as opportunity for fun and fellowship. Sunday night "hymn sings" furthered closer acquaintance and friendship among members and friends. A Thanksgiving Conference at Pigeon Lake, featuring Rev. Earl Tygert of P.B.I., presented a weekend of inspirational lectures and student discussions.

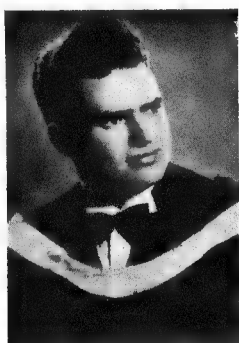

From the first hike to "The Pines" and early showings of the film "God of Creation," to the final banquet in honour of the graduating students, freshmen and upperclassmen carried on splendidly through the term.

CLAUDE MAY
President

The Social Service Club was founded in 1946. Its object since then has been to acquaint interested students with social service work as a career and as an agent working for the welfare of the community. The club has endeavored to provide prospective social service workers with advance information regarding the profession in the form of literature, talks by eminent social workers, and by field trips.

Believing that the foundation of successful social work is the complete social development of each worker, the club commenced its activities by a get-together in St. Joe's gymnasium. The committee in charge was momentarily baffled by a sudden immigration of Pembinites (vastly resembling the suicidal treks of the lemmings). Emmigration was threatened by the said lovelies until a leather-lunged member of the club pounded the hallways of St. Joe's, recruiting the young and able, and in fifteen minutes books and beards had been forgotten and the floor of the gym was soon crowded with dancing couples.

Interest of a different kind was prevalent when the members of the club gathered to hear Miss Hazel Bishop discuss the work of the Edmonton Council of Social Agencies. The challenge film, "Who Is My Neighbor" was also shown at this meeting.

Several other speakers visited meetings of the Social Service Club during the course of the year. Dr. Charlotte Whitton addressed the largest meeting of the year, and her listeners were deeply impressed by the vibrant personality and brilliant intellect of the speaker.

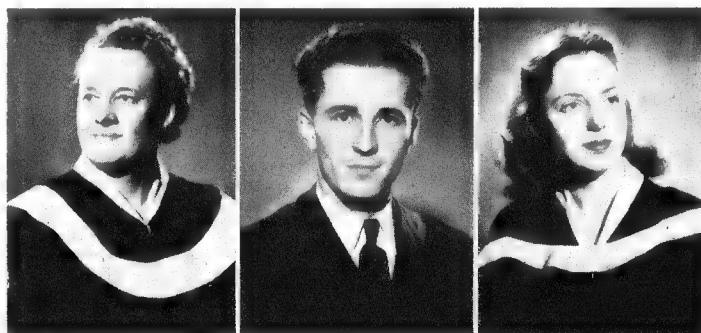

As well as assisting with the Student Housing Survey, a number of club members were privileged to visit the Oliver Mental Institute during the course of the year. Following this field trip, the club members returned to their books, pausing only long enough to attend a banquet in Caf at which Miss M. Dick of the Family Welfare Agency was an honored guest.

The house lights are dimmed: the curtain rises on a street in a slum district of New York during the depression of the early '30's: another presentation by the University Drama Club is under way.

For their production this year the Club chose Maxwell Anderson's "Winterset", a drama based on true life. Anderson wrote this play after the style of a Shakespearian tragedy, using poetic language to portray a tragic conflict of life. The plot of Winterset was based on the famous Sacco-Vanzetti case of United States criminal files. The play itself deals with the events immediately following the trial. It tells of the fight of Mio, searching for revenge, believing in no one except young Miriamne; and of their tragic death after having discovered in each other a belief in the essential goodness of humanity. Winterset was a relentless tragedy which held the audience spellbound.

Much of the credit for the success of the production goes to director Ray Whitehouse, who was headman over the cast and backstage workers, and to Professor R. G. Orchard, who designed the sets for Winterset. The cast of the play and stage hands attended rehearsals faithfully to put on a performance worthy of the University and past productions of the Drama Club.

The activities of the Club didn't cease with the production of Winterset in November, however. In January a group of players embarked for Winnipeg to compete in the Intervarsity play competitions. The play, directed by Professor Orchard, was "The Two Cowards." Later in the year this play was put on in Con Hall.

The Inter-year play competitions this year were sponsored by the Drama Club. The plays presented were: Senior Class—Floating Homeland; Junior Class—Boxcar Heading West; Sophomore Class—Murder Trial; and Freshman Class—Family Album. Dr. Salter adjudicated at the competition. All honors went to the Freshman Class. Their play, Family Album, directed by Jo Pilcher and Gay Gordon, won the Best Play award; Best Actress award went to Jo Pilcher of Family Album, and best actor award to Tom Summers, also in the Frosh production.

1947-48 was a profitable year for the University Drama Club and one to be remembered in future years.

Make-Up Club

Under the very capable leadership of Ralph Nixon, the Make-Up Club had one of its busiest years. There was the usual fun and, of course, trials—"There just isn't any green eye-shadow." Mrs. Richard MacDonald, known by all dramatic aspirants as "Mrs. Mac" was back to give her ever-needed valuable advice to new and old members alike. We were glad to welcome a good number of promising young "Artists" and to see so many senior students taking an active interest.

The "Winterset" cast proved to be a very appreciative group to work with and the play offered many interesting jobs for us. February and March demanded loyal members as we were rushed with three productions. In the middle of February came the Inter-Year Plays; with one week to catch up on sleep and what-not, the Glenora Carnival loomed up and attracted most of our members to try their stuff on the beautiful faces and legs of that group. Yes, there were some men there too, thank goodness. The Ballet allowed our rosy-tipped fingers no rest during the next busy week. The application of Ballet Make-Up made a nice change for all concerned—except perhaps the Ballet.

Debating Club

An increasing interest in public affairs was evident on Alberta's campus this year. Allied with the ability to think clearly about important public questions is the ability to translate one's thoughts into convincing arguments.

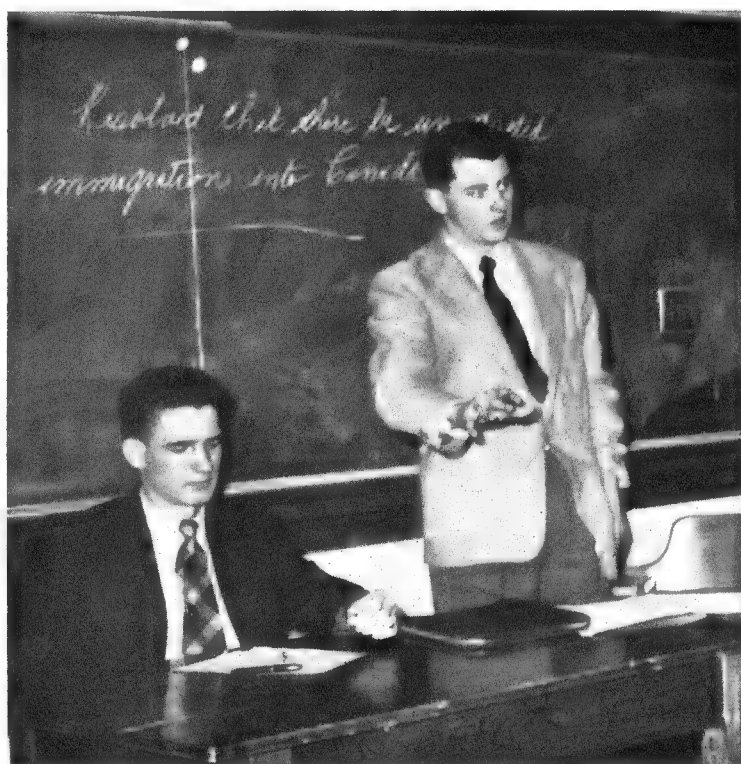

The ability to debate effectively is largely a matter of training. The best training is that gained through experience. The Debating Society, through its system of competitive debates, provides this necessary practice.

The year 1947-48 saw the popularity of the Society soar to new heights on the campus, as its members participated in both the Hugill and McGowan Cup debates, emblematic of interfaculty and intervarsity debating supremacy.

The interfaculty debates commenced on the twenty-ninth of October and continued for several weeks with a total of thirty-two teams competing. Shortly after Christmas, Bill Pybus and Don Smiley, representing the Faculty of Education, emerged victorious, defeating lawmen Tevie Miller and Steve Woods to retain the Hugill Cup. The greatest student turnout in years watched the Hugill debaters in action.

In the intervarsity debates on January sixteenth, Alberta's visiting team travelled to Saskatoon where they put up a good fight against the team from our neighbor to the east. Meanwhile the representatives from U.B.C. at Alberta defeated the home team of Don Lister and Tevie Miller by one point.

Don Williams giving a violin solo at one of the Sunday night performances of the Club

The University Music Club has again increased in the size of its membership this year due to greater interest in good music among the students and the Edmonton public.

Every endeavor was made this year to provide an opportunity for both student talent, and accomplished performers in the province of Alberta to be heard. The opening program of the Sunday evening series featured Betty McCaskill, an Edmonton soprano who is becoming well-known both in Alberta and in Eastern Canada, and Betty-Jane Hagen, talented young violinist who is the daughter of an Edmonton family and is now studying music in Calgary.

The remaining four Sunday evening recitals were devoted to Music of the Romantic and Modern periods; German music; French music; and finally, Russian music.

This year another nationally-known artist was presented. This time a pianist was the special guest, in the person of Ross Pratt, who was born in Winnipeg and has toured extensively in the British Commonwealth, the United States, and Central America.

Much encouragement and assistance was rendered the Executive by the Honorary President, Prof. L. H. Nichols, and by the patronesses, Mrs. John Reymes-King, Miss Constance MacFarlane, and Miss Maimie Simpson.

Canadian University Returned Men's Association

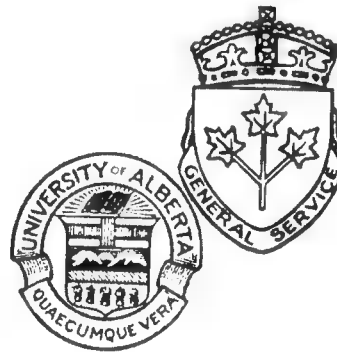

This year has seen the greatest number of returned men and women on this campus, all of whom received material benefits from the varied efforts of C.U.R.M.A. Housing remained as the greatest problem to the student veterans, and in this work C.U.R.M.A. led all other organizations in the housing of "homeless" veterans and their families. Further assistance was given in the matter of loans and part time employment. C.U.R.M.A.'s national organization, the National Council of Student Veterans was instrumental in obtaining the long sought and badly needed increases in living allowances from the Dominion government. During the past year successful dances and smokers have provided relaxation for all members and their friends.

Proud parents displayed their offspring in the first Baby Contest and the accompanying photo shows that Alberta Vet's children are second to none. It must be remembered that an Alberta baby was the winner in the national contest, regardless of U.B.C.'s claims.

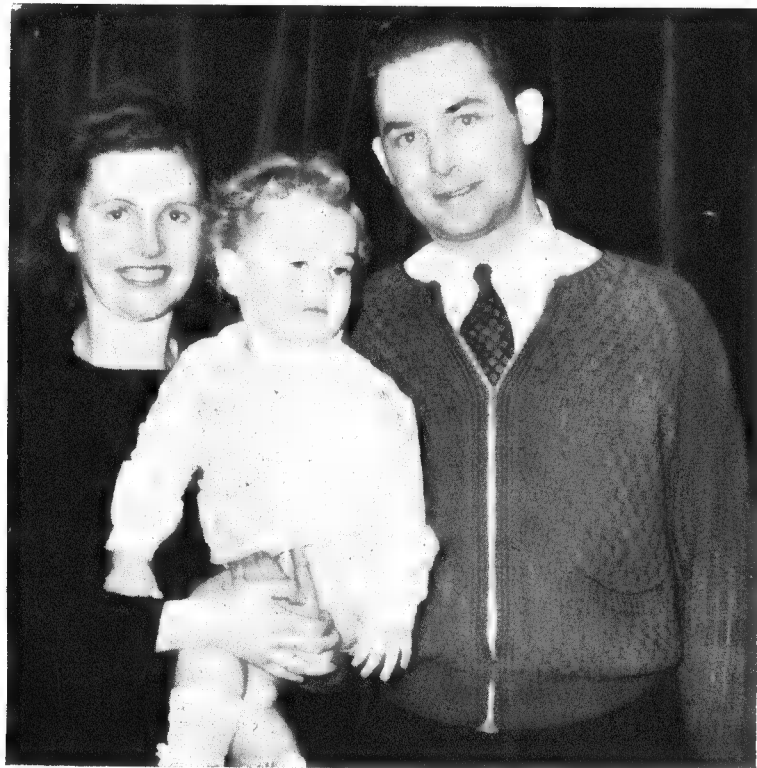

C.U.R.M.A.'s disbandment in the next few years is definitely foreseen. Until such time as the Veteran population on the campus declines to a negligible number, C.U.R.M.A. will continue as the Co-ordinator of Veterans Affairs.

Canadian

Upper: Lt.-Col. M. L. Van Vliet
Lower: Major M. J. Egan

In the Fall of 1946 an entirely new system of training was instituted, designed to give military instruction at the University a more academic flavour, and to utilize the summer months to provide practical training under the highly competent direction of the various Corps Schools. During the academic year, forty hours are spent on subjects such as Military Geography, Economics of Defence, Military History, Tactics and Organization. In the summer, dependent on the Corps in which they are training, students go to one or other of the Training Schools, which are located in various parts of Canada, and spend there a period of approximately four months. Choice of Corps School is determined to a large extent by the faculties in which students are enrolled. Thus a student in Civil Engineering would be considered most suitable for the Royal Canadian Engineers, a Medical student for the Medical Corps, and so on. As a result members of the COTC have in many cases, and particularly in the technical and professional Corps, an opportunity to receive practical training in their chosen university field, as well as to acquire qualifications for commission as Officers of the Active or Reserve Army.

An important change has also been made in the status and pay of Officer Cadets. On acceptance Officer Cadets are given the status and privileges of Second Lieutenants and wear the rank badges of such. Their pay for the theoretical and practical phases is that of Second Lieutenants.

During the first year of the Scheme 91 Officer Cadets from the University went to the various Corps Schools where they made a very creditable showing in competition with students from other Canadian universities. In 1947-48 the number attending will be approximately 110.

Lt.-Col. Owen retired in 1947 after seeing through the changeover to the new training scheme. He was succeeded by the present OC, Lt.-Col. M. L. Van Vliet. Assisting the OC in the running of the unit are Major H. J. Bishop and Major J. R. Stafford. In addition an Active Army Officer, known as the Resident Staff Officer is assigned by Army Headquarters to conduct the Military Science phase of the course and to assist and advise generally on the training. The present Resident Staff Officer is Major M. J. Egan, of the P.P.C.L.I., a regiment well known to former Alberta COTC members as a source of training Officers and NCOs.

Divisions Officers along with R.C.N. Petty Officers carried out all instruction for the various branches.

About 35 students were active in the U.N.T.D. in 1947-48. This included people in all branches, Executive, Engineer, Electrical, Supply, and Medical. Three senior students will receive their commissions as Sub Lieut. upon graduation in May.

Regulations still lay down that the normal U.N.T.D. program is to consist of training at the local Division for four winter sessions while at University. The training is progressive in nature and designed to qualify all candidates as officers in whatever branch of the Service they may enter. During a student's second year in the U.N.T.D. he comes before a Selection Board and if he passes inspection he is rated as an Officer Candidate. Each member of the U.N.T.D. has to take a two week cruise every summer as a normal part of the program. As an Officer Candidate he also has to spend one full summer with the R.C.N.

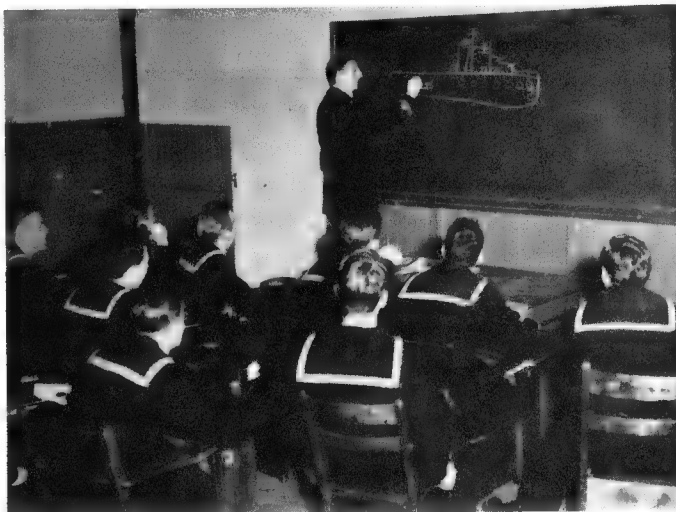

During the summer of 1948, Candidates of the Executive Branch will spend five weeks on courses; three weeks in the Navigation Direction School and two weeks in the Seamanship School. The rest of the summer will be spent carrying out the required Training Cruise and on Voluntary Service which will afford seetime and additional courses.

Engineering Branch Candidates will be given a course on electrical equipment and procedure in the Navy followed by practical experience.

Medical Branch Officer Candidates will be given such opportunities afloat and in R.C.N. Hospital as their medical training will permit.

All supply and Secretariat Branch Officer Candidates will be given a six weeks course in the Supply and Secretariat School HMCS "Naden". Naval Training and practical experience afloat and ashore will complete the summer.

On looking over the whole summer program it would appear that all of those availing themselves of this opportunity to secure a commission in the R.C.N. will spend a most profitable summer on our West Coast.

Cheer Squad

Something new had been added. In company with Varsity's mighty struggles along the paths to athletic glory, a vivacious cheer squad was providing adequate vocal support at all Golden Bear games. Led by Jim Woods, the four lassies and a laddie were responsible for a tumultuous background of noise as the Alberta teams did and died for the dear old Alma Mater. The squad's first appearance was at the Toronto football game where they whipped the enormous crowd into a frenzy of cheering, consequently followed by a pandemic of hoarse throats.

The cart-wheel antics continued to delight the spectators at succeeding contests both in Edmonton and Saskatoon, and even the basketball Bears found the girls in white present to give forth with the old U. of A. rah! rah! Indeed a commendable effort and a genuine step in the right direction toward revival of the faint glow of campus spirit.

Golf

Managed by Lem Barnes, the Intramural and the Intercollegiate Golf Tournaments were capably and efficiently conducted. In the Intramural competition, sixteen golfers applied their skill towards the Dr. Broadfoot trophy, with Cam Sadlier of Calgary, defeating Jim Whitelaw in the final round.

Selected to represent Alberta in the Intercollegiate meet, held this year at the Edmonton Golf and Country Club, were Nancy Alton, Nellie McClung, Cam Sadlier, and Don Noble. Nellie McClung was the only holdover from last year's team.

Manitoba proved far superior to the Alberta and Saskatchewan teams in both men's and women's divisions. In the medal play for men, Asseltine of Manitoba turned in an outstanding performance with 112 strokes for 27 holes, Prest of Saskatchewan was second with 116 strokes and Sadlier of Alberta, third with 122 strokes. In women's medal play, the Manitoba team of Donna Baxter and Barbara Morrison were in a class by themselves copping first and second with 97 and 101 strokes, respectively, for 18 holes. Mary Lou McCormick of Saskatchewan was third.

Results of the match play the next day showed Asseltine of Manitoba again the winner, with Sadlier of Alberta, second. And in the women's match play, Donna Baxter was well out in front, followed by Donna Pryor of Saskatchewan.

In the final standing, it was Manitoba first, Saskatchewan second, Alberta third.

Tennis

Shortly after the University session started, the tennis enthusiasts were warming up for the local tennis tournament. Jean McLaws, Helen Lilly, Mary Collins and Betty Murray were competing for ladies' honors, while Johnny Stott, Gordie McLaws, Ken Grierson, Ian Dickons, Jimmy Hume, and Clare Ames were making a bid to be this year's male champ.

Jean McLaws won easily in the ladies' division, and, teamed with Helen Lilly, formed the ladies' Intercollegiate team. The men's play boiled down to Johnny Stott and Gordie McLaws, with the favored McLaws being defeated by Stott.

The Intercollegiate tourney, held on the University courts here, saw the Alberta team win handily over Saskatchewan and Manitoba for the Aggregate Trophy, which we so narrowly missed last year. The highlight of the meet came when Stott and McLaws, pitted against Hodges and Fuller of Saskatchewan, fought a tough two and a half hour battle—Alberta winning at 4-6, 6-3, 10-8. The Alberta men, by later defeating Manitoba, won the men's doubles.

Jean McLaws and Helen Lilly defeated both Manitoba and Saskatchewan ladies to take the honors in the ladies' doubles, and in the ladies singles, Jean McLaws copped all her sets to remain undefeated in two years.

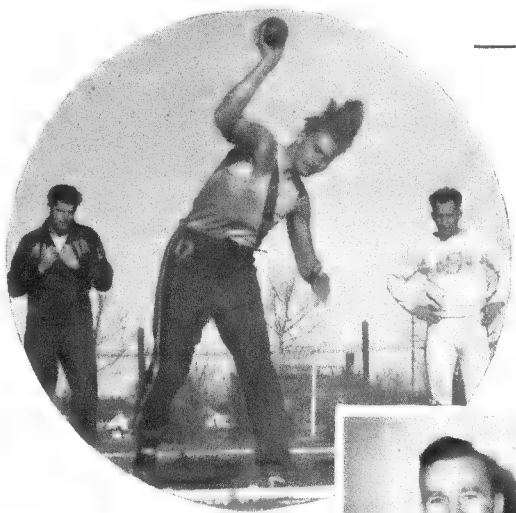

Praise goes to these four for their outstanding performance in bringing Alberta to the top in Intercollegiate tennis.

The smartly uniformed 1947 U. of A. Track and Field team failed to live up to its pre-meet predictions as it went down to defeat in the twenty-second annual Western Intercollegiate Track and Field Meet. Seemingly in excellent condition, with numerous records on the verge of collapsing, the students couldn't climb out of the cellar position which they had occupied since last year.

Spirits were high as the spiked-shoe hopefuls rounded ito shape during September and October. Holdovers on the team included Ken Sturrock, Karl Erdman, and Marion Irwin, all of whom had rolled up points in Saskatoon last year. Back again also was Nick Lupaschuk, Intercollegiate distance king and Riley Trophy holder, who this year was gunning for the two mile record he so narrowly missed last October. New blood was added with freshmen Ivan Head and Doris Nufer who had proved their mettle in Dominion meets. The former was running within a tenth of a second of a Canadian record in the furlong; the latter had never looked better in the 60 meter event.

All in all Coach Hughes was hopeful of a better showing when the varsities tangled at Clarke Stadium on October 18. Alberta looked sharper than any other U. in their brand new outfits. The sun shone on the sleek satin of the Green and Gold and it promised to be a great day for the home team.

But Manitoba started with a bang, Saskatchewan soon were on their tails and Alberta couldn't seem to get a firm grip on the rapidly progressing leaders as they reached the first corner. Down the back stretch it was a keen struggle between the men from the east for supremacy. Saskatchewan's women never looked back. Coming out of the final turn, Manitoba males nosed out their rivals from Saskatchewan while the Saskatchewan women coasted to an overwhelming victory. Alberta trailed in both races.

The only bright spots for Coach Hughes came as he watched Lupaschuk live up to his vaunted reputation and clip 11.9 seconds off the existing two mile record, Sturrock and Walker with two tremendous tosses give Alberta a first and second in the javelin, tiny Doris Nufer blaze down the cinders to win the 60 metre dash, and the Men's relay team lose a hard fought battle in the 880 relay by two strides—then be granted a win as Manitoba was disqualified for cutting in.

As the final echo of a starter's gun vanished from the deepening shadows over Clarke Stadium, the shadows deepened also in the hearts of the Alberta followers. Looking back, they could still see the aggregate scores on the score board: Saskatchewan, 88; Manitoba, 70; and Alberta, 39. Where was Erdman's famed superiority in the weight-throwing? Head looked sick. What was wrong with MacRae's knee? Had Irwin lost her 1946 knack of high-jumping? Nobody knew. The only point which bothered everyone was that in their own back-yard with a team that appeared unbeatable on paper, Alberta has lost.

Next year? Next year Lupaschuk will still be around; Nufer, Mackie, Walker, Hear, and Roe will all have gained both in experience and form. Yes, next year Winnipeg might watch a victorious Alberta team.

Football

Truly, big time football had returned to Edmonton. From the first kick-off of a Toronto game which assured the continuance of East-West classics, to the final whistle of a Saskatchewan contest which assured the retention of the Hardy Cup by the University of Alberta the 1947 gridiron season could only be classed as outstanding.

Outstanding, and eventful; for the '47 Golden Bear football machine witnessed the introduction of East-West Intercollegiate play, the inaugural of International games, and the departure of Maury Van Vliet as Alberta's head coach.

Commencing the season playing before a capacity crowd and finishing it in front of vacant grandstands, the Bears provided a brand of play that varied from sluggish to dazzling but that consistently packed a scoring punch. Although outplayed at times, they were only held scoreless on one occasion.

Ironically enough, of the six scheduled games, the two lacking most in interest and color were the revivals of the annual Saskatchewan competition for Western Intercollegiate pigskin supremacy. No one gave the Huskies an outside chance; and they didn't have one. Even the football parade was relegated to an exhibition game.

Bears went into Saskatoon as heavy favorites and after drubbing the locals 20-0 returned West with still greater odds on their side. These were upheld as the crimson-clad team toyed with the angry Husky at Clarke Stadium in the return engagement; score 38-1. Total series score 58-1 in favor of Alberta.

But these outcomes had been preconceived. The crowds were anxious to see the University of Toronto Blues as representative of top-notch eastern football; they wanted a view of the American brand ball played by American teams. And at the completion of these contests, the fans weren't disappointed with the quality of play or with the showing of the Alberta squad.

Against Toronto the Bears displayed a tenacity that was a feature of all their games. Outweighed considerably, the Green and Gold tallied the only major of the second half by uncorking a three-way 87-yard gallop which electrified the spectators and electrocuted the Easterners. Irving to Hobbs to Ingram was the key to this masterpiece.

The Montana encounters lacked the polish of the Canadian games. Against the School of Mines, the Bears found no opposition. Against the State Normal they found little else. Sluggishness was again the word as a listless Varsity crew fell before a listless Calgary Stampeder squad.

Throughout the season, veterans Harry Hobbs, Billy Ingram, Ken Moore, Jack Perry, and Jack Allan shone consistently. Hobbs' extended gallop in the Toronto game and Moore's remarkable transition to fullback ranked on a par with Ingram's field strategy and the hard-hitting line play of Perry and Allan. But freshmen had a word to say as well. Triple-threat Harry Irving graduated from Junior ranks with flying colors; as did his ex-Calgary Tornado buddies, fleet Pete Lougheed, Bud Milner, Jeep Hall, and Bill Kier. Basketballer Jim MacRae proved he could carry the leather as well as dribble it in his football debut.

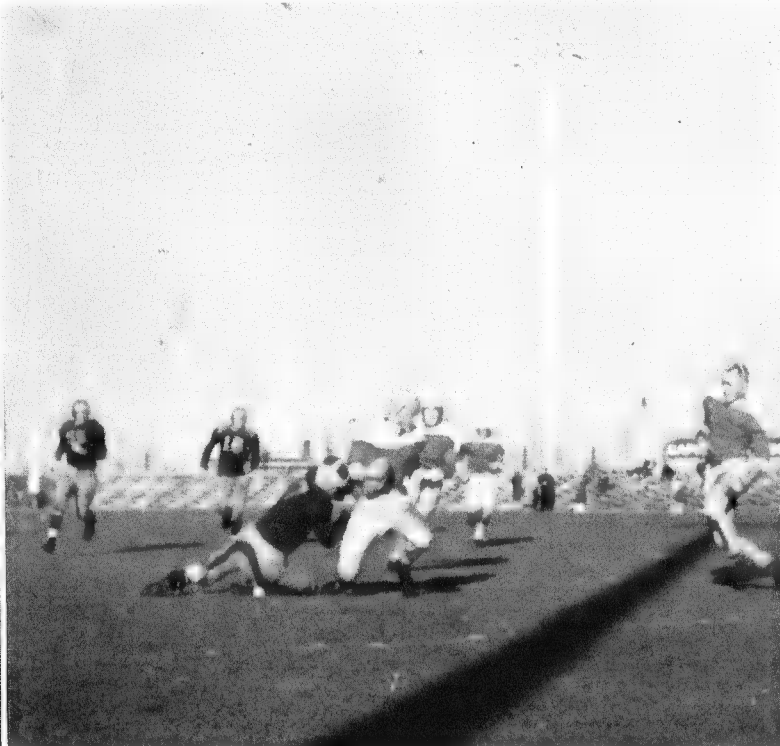

All in all a bright year for the Golden Bears. One which coach Maury Van Vliet can long remember as a fitting climax to a brilliant football career at Alberta. And a mighty challenge for future teams and coaches to equal.

The opening phase of the University athletic activities for the 1946-47 session brought the return of the leather sphere to the campus after many years of absence.

Initiated by the efforts of Kilburn "Benny" Urquart, President of the League, and strongly supported by Greg Fulton, Vice-President of the University Athletic Board, teams from eight faculties competed for the coveted Pennant Trophy.

The league was divided into two sections, A and B. Due to the shortness of the season no return games were played between the teams. Arts and Science was the winner of division A with five points to its credit while Commerce won division B —also with five points. In the final knock-out game Arts and Science won when Sig Heiberg scored the only goal which gave Captain Mallabone's team the trophy which was presented by Registrar G. B. Taylor.

Highlights of the season included a game played between the girls of Pembina and the boys of Athabasca Hall, and also a game played by members of the Engineering staff against the undergrads.

Competitions between all teams was kept throughout the season; the standard of sportsmanship was high. And, judging from the large turnout of players and supporters to all the games, the season was an unqualified success.

Swimming

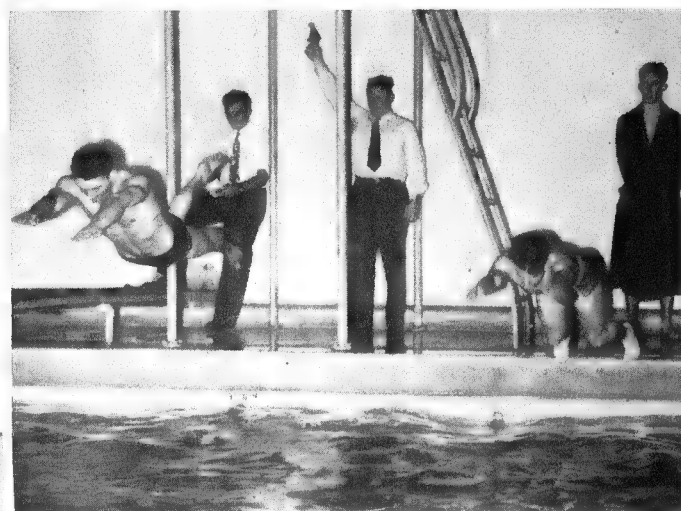

With a splash that literally swamped the college swimmers from Saskatoon and Manitoba, Alberta's prairie mermen rescued the Griffith Trophy last November. Nine years had elapsed since the coveted cup, emblematic of Western Intercollegiate aquatic supremacy, last rested on Alberta's trophy shelf. However, it will be another year at least before the Felsted Cup is able to join it for the aquamaids of Manitoba were successful in their attempts to carry that silverware to Winnipeg where it will remain throughout 1948.

Coach Bob Matheson's crew were in fine form as they frothed the North West Air Command pool into a flurry of foam, edging out the competition on three occasions and staying close enough behind in four other events to win themselves the heretofore elusive title. Don Moore's kicking heels were plainly visible to the men from the East as he paced the field for one of the best performances of the day. He won both the 100 yard and 200 yard free-style swims.

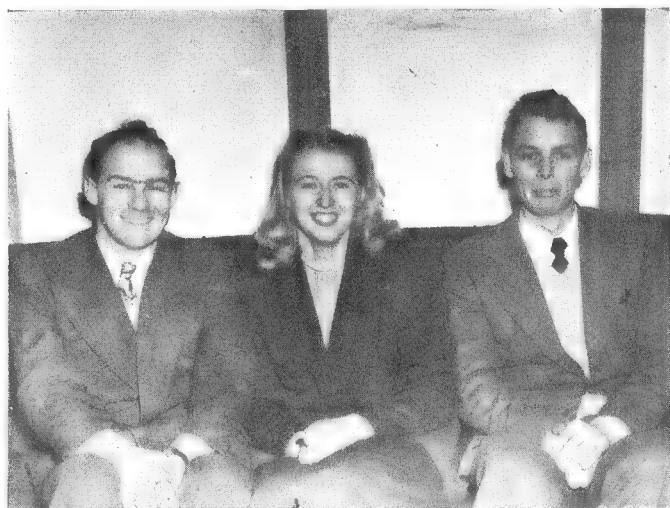

Bob Duthie came through in the closing moments of the swimfest when his high-board artistry snared the diving championship and assured Alberta the team victory. Mavis Appleton was Varsity's big gun in women's contests but she was not provided with adequate support; result was that the Green and Gold trailed far behind in the fight for feminine honors.

Curling

One more Intercollegiate championship was added to the ever-lengthening list of Alberta conquests last March in Winnipeg. The ancient game of curling was the sport; the infant collegiate "brier" was the competition; and the U. of A. rinks proved themselves superior for the second straight year.

The ice was fast and so was the competition for Manitoba's McTavish had previously sidelined the Dominion champion, veteran Jimmy Welsh of Deer Lodge, in a Winnipeg bonspiel. Saskatchewan reported new strength in their Besom an' Stane artists. But Alberta's skip Jack LeBeau had tasted victory last year in Saskatchewan and was out for a repeat performance. His rink of G. McLaws, G. Wells and D. Bearisto forced its way through to the finals where Alberta's second skip, Wibb Hewitt, had also advanced. Hewitt, backed by L. Miller, N. Moysey, and G. McIvor, had previously shown his mettle by scoring the most decisive win of the spiel with a 14-1 triumph over Bell of Manitoba. The Green and Gold rinks both triumphed in the final draws to break the three-way tie and retain the silverware.

The continued curling supremacy of Alberta was guaranteed by the enthusiastic support given to the Curling Club during the winter. Talent was present in generous quantities on Varsity Night at the Granite Club and President Bert Little of the student's curling fraternity was to be congratulated for the outstanding success of his organization. Broom wielders of both sexes joined in the fun.

Skiing

The Alberta spectators were doubly disappointed at Norquay. The Green and Gold ski-squad was outclassed in the big snow fest, and Montana's Jack Davis didn't turn in a repeat performance of his thrilling 1947 schuss in the downhill event. But the large gallery did have the scoring with veteran captain Norm Rault romping home in the tenth spot.

The Varsity ski-hill had been the scene of daily action since the first flakes of snow started to fall in November. A large number of hopefuls strove to capture the five satisfaction of watching a faultless University of Washington team turn in a near perfect performance to capture 293.4 out of a possible 300 points. This assured them possession of the magnificent Alberta Government trophy as Western Intercollegiate skiing champions.

At that the Alberta team showed well against the cream of U.S. college competitors. Each of the five locals placed in the first seventeen in the aggregate vacant team berths, but long before the February meet, Rault had discarded all but the most promising.

Professor Ritchie Hughes accompanied the long-board artists to Banff where, under ideal snow conditions and before a crowd of 3,000, they placed fourth in a field of five. The victory of the Washington skiers followed their outstanding performance in Sun Valley, Idaho last December where they placed second in the United States Intercollegiate championships.

The premiere Women's Weekend made its debut at Saskatoon February 27 and 28. A congenial atmosphere of keen rivalry and good fellowship was evident in the Hub City as the feminine athletes from the three Western Universities strove for supremacy in three fields of endeavour. Curling, basketball, and fencing were the sports in the spotlight, but outstanding cheerleaders threatened to capture the spectator interest in the well filled galleries.

The Alberta Pandas failed in their attempt to wrest the Cecil Race trophy from the defending Saskatchewan Huskiettes. The latter team scored upsets over both the Pandas and the Manitoba Bisonettes to successfully retain the Intercollegiate Basketball crown for another year. Kay Tanner and Joan Arnold sparked a 39-25 victory in the Saskatchewan game but the team was set back 54-28 by the Huskiettes the following day.

Throughout the winter, the Pandas played in the stiff Edmonton Women's Senior League. The team found itself on the wrong side of the score sheet, failing to win a single game in league play. Their first victory of the season came in Calgary where a 27-21 triumph was counted over the Calgary Faculty of Education.

During the week-end, Saskatchewan claimed another crown when the inaugural matches of the Willman Memorial Trophy for intervarsity fencing finished in favor of the host team. The trophy, won by Saskatchewan last year, is emblematic of male and female supremacy. The defending team won fifteen matches to twelve, while Alberta failed to gain a single point.

On ice, it was Manitoba who triumphantly emerged as curling champions. The favored Alberta team, gunning for its second victory, dropped the title to the Bisonette foursome in a thrilling 10-6 match. Saskatchewan was winless, losing to Manitoba 9-5 and to Alberta 10-7.

In the past, it seems that the Women's Intercollegiate sports have consistently occupied the bottom rung of the competitive athletic ladder. However, the long advocated necessity for woman representation on intercollegiate sport slates in Western Canada has at last become a reality. With the inauguration of a Women's Weekend, the outlook, as far as feminine sports is concerned is at present, particularly bright.

Interfaculty Hockey

Still hampered by a lack of equipment but overflowing with a surplus of talent, the Varsity Hockey League culminated a successful season under the guidance of President Dick Beddoes. Divided into two sections, the league provided plenty of thrills in a closely contested play-off race. The Arts team led the "A" Section right to the wire before being overhauled by Engineers I who forced a play-off as a result of the first place tie. The three game series was finally awarded to the Applied Science team after an exciting 8-7 overtime victory in the final game.

Meanwhile, Dents, victors of the "B" Division, polished off the second place Education team in three straight contests and advanced to the finals. After much talking and considerable scrounging, the Dents and Engineers managed to get enough sticks and pads together to equip their respective teams sufficiently to make the final play-offs possible. A gruelling, hard fought series; tied up until the final game of a two out of three series finally gave way with the Engineering men edging out a hard-working (in more ways than one) Dent team by a score of 10-3. This marks the second victory in three years for the campus's "hard-drinking" slide-rule wielders.

The "A" Section scoring race was closely contested with Don Sutherland of Commerce and Frank Van Tighem of Arts tied with 28 points each. Harvey Bodnar of Arts, high goal scorer (20), was close behind with 27 points. Fred Wihak of Dents was well in front of "B" Section with 27 points. Bad man of the league was Arts' Ken Moore who sat out 11 minutes.

Judging by the grade of hockey displayed at Varsity rink this season, it is a certainty that with some coaching and a bit of equipment, a little encouragement and a slight decrease in the amount of intracurricular activities, the U. of A. could rightfully boast a grade of hockey second to none at any other varsity in the country.

Boxing, Wrestling, Tumbling

The three strong-arm clubs of the campus fulfilled an active and successful season. The Tumbling Club, under the guidance of President Bob Routledge, reached a fine height in the quality of performances given. The twenty member club concentrated on balancing activities and two-man tumbling during the year. Six displays were given during the year at various functions. Between halves at the two Montana basketball games, the crowds witnessed some thrilling exhibitions of vaulting and mat work. As an experiment, several reels of movies were taken of the members in action. It is hoped that these will serve not only as a record of achievement but also as a means of self-improvement.

The Boxing Club, under the direction of Laurie MacLean, and the Wrestling Club, under the guidance of Larry Edwards, both culminated active seasons by bringing home the Neilson and Howe Trophies from the Inter-collegiate Assault-at-Arms held in Saskatoon. The clubs worked out in St. Joseph's Gym and the Drill Hall, respectively, while tuning up for the inter-varsity bouts.

Bearcats

Only one men's team carried the Green and Gold into action in city basketball leagues this year. The Bearcats, on intermediate squad in past seasons, was this year a junior team. However, due to the absence of a city junior league the team performed in the stiff Edmonton Senior Mens' League. In this circuit, playing against very seasoned competition, they could not rise from out of the cellar.

The 'cats' proved their potency when matched against a high-school all-star team on several occasions. These popular contests were a prelude to the home games of the Golden Bears. Coach Don Smith ushered his charges on a tour to Calgary during which they emerged victorious in both games played.

Returning to Edmonton, the Bearcats were matched against the 1947 Western Canada Junior Champions, Y.M.C.A. Toilers, in a series to determine the Northern Alberta champions. After scoring a minor upset with an initial victory, the 'cats' dropped two straight games by close scores to culminate their play for the year.

Junior Basketball

The younger sisters of the Senior Pandas played through an enthusiastic, if winless season as members of the Junior section of the Edmonton Women's League. The team was organized to develop hitherto inexperienced talent and to act as a feeder to the Senior Pandas. In this latter respect, Corinne MacLeod "graduated" to replace Beth Tanner on the varsity squad. Several possibilities for next season's Pandas include Carol Barnes, Doris Morrison, and Rita McCormick.

Volleyball

The major interfaculty competition of the second term was the Volleyball Tournament. This year, volleyball proved to be the most successful of all the women's interfaculty events, both in number of teams participating and in enthusiasm shown by the players. Thirteen teams, divided into two groups, played several games each week in a round robin draw.

The four teams reaching the finals were Arts I, Education V, House Ec. I and House Ec. II. A keen competitive spirit drove House Ec. I through to the top with House Ec. II and Arts I trailing. The winning team was managed by June Fraser and captained by Betty Hood.

If the sudden widespread enthusiasm displayed by the local co-eds is any indication of the status of the spike game in women's athletics, volleyball will certainly be the team game to watch in years to come.

Women's Interfac. Basketball

Education II captured the interfac crown after finishing on top of the league. They defeated Ollie Barilko's powerful Arts team by scores of 36-30 and 20-14 in the finals, after downing the Nurses 11-9 and 17-12 in the fours. Arts had widely outscored Education in easily taking the second slot on the season's play.

Interest was keen in the league but lack of space for night games made the attendance disappointing. With careful coaching the level of play became progressively higher as the season wore on. In the closing play-off games it became quite apparent that many players appear as good prospects for intercollegiate competition next year to bolster the sagging Pandas. If a little more emphasis and interest can be added to women's interfac and intramural basketball in years to come it will provide the intercollegiate teams with a "farm system" from which to draw sorely needed promising rookies. The consequent improvement in the quality of women's basketball will be an important stepping stone in the advancement of feminine athletics on the campus.

Basketball

Senior Hockey

The season of '47-48 saw Shorts Purcell's crew fare rather unfavorably in the four team circuit of the Northern Alberta Intermediate league. With stars such as Jim Fleming, Wingy Dockery, Harry Hobbs, Billy Ingram et al. not always available for play, the Green and Gold were unable to gain a victory in the entire schedule, against a group of rink-wise teams. On many occasions they came close, but the veterans of Camrose, Waterloo, and the Memorial-cup seeking Wetaskiwin Canadians were invariably successful in retaining control.

This bleak scene changed suddenly, however, when the Bears went "intervarsity". Even the unlucky thirteen was foiled. It took a mighty effort on the part of a certain group of very tired boys to make it a reality. As a result, the Halpenny Cup will shine forth from the Alberta trophy case for the THIRTEENTH consecutive year.

The current edition of the puck-chasing Bears had faced seemingly insurmountable setbacks throughout the season. The heavy schedule of the Northern Alberta In-intermediate League to which they were pledged had sidelined a number of the study conscious students. A crushing blow was administered when Ross Jefferies, the Goldies' outstanding netminder, was forced hors-de-combat with a dislocated shoulder. The seventeen straight defeats in the N.A.I.L. cast a gloomy pall over the Intercollegiate series with a Husky reputed more tenacious than ever.

Nevertheless, the inevitable could not be altered; the Saskatchewan sextet clawed out an 8-4 victory in the first game of the four game series. The following evening the Green and White were stunned by a 3-0 setback at the hands of the Bears and goalie Joe Moran. The scene changed to Edmonton with the over-confident Huskies carrying a one goal lead. They wasted little time in handing the local crew a 5-2 defeat in the first encounter here, at the Varsity rink. This left the Bears with a five goal deficit to be overcome before the cup was theirs. The total score of the series read 13-9 in favor of the Huskies when the final game of the total score, four game series was faced off. How could the visitors lose?

The Bears did not feel in the least beaten and showed it by virtue of a blistering 7-1 win. They had scored their five goals and an extra one for good measure as a fitting climax for the struggles of any fighting team. Not until 1949 will the Huskies from Saskatchewan again have the opportunity of wresting from the Bears of Alberta, the Western Intercollegiate Hockey crown.

MANAGER "ANDY"

A most active Interfaculty Basketball League commenced operations in November. Thirteen teams entered the competitions which scheduled twelve games for each squad. This allowed a complete round-robin series. Rivalry and quality of play both ranked high as Arts I led the way toward the wire with a brilliant string of twelve victories in as many starts.

The semi-finals matched the first and third teams and the second and fourth place squads in a pair of two game total point series. Arts I and Arts II emerged victorious and qualified for the two out of three final. This series to determine league champions and possessors of the Interfaculty Trophy was swept by Arts I in straight games.

Throughout the schedule, scoring was paced by Joe Altilio of the Pharmacy team with 134 points. Next in line were Charlie Gordon of Med with 129 and Bud Milner of Arts I with 117 points.

Credit is due to Andy Andrekson, President of Basketball and Manager of the Golden Bears for herding his loop through a faultless season.

Archery and Badminton

Probably the highest standard of play ever to be witnessed in western Intersivity badminton saw Manitoba edge out a strong Alberta team in the annual Walker Trophy competition held in Winnipeg this year. Dr. Walker, donor of the trophy which Alberta won last year in Saskatoon, accompanied the team and was well pleased with the efforts of the Alberta players.

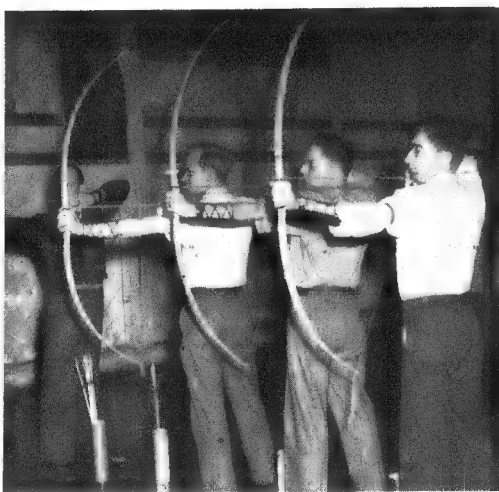

The seven team members, Marge Fraser, Bob Watson, Charlie Templeton, Eleanor Macdonald, June Fraser, Ken Grierson and Stu MacIntosh all earned their berths on the squad by virtue of their stellar performances in the Badminton Club tournament. The club proved exceedingly popular with an exceptionally large membership roll throughout the year.

Mounting interest in this ancient sport is rapidly making it one of the important minor sports on the campus. Organized under the University Athletic Board, the Men's and Women's Archery Clubs met together twice weekly in the Drill Hall to "pepper the bull with quills". Presidents Alice Carter and Warren Bailey were more than pleased with the splendid turn outs throughout the season.

Archers in Action

This year's highlight was the Intersivity tournament held in Vancouver and Edmonton—at the same time. Through close co-operation between the University of British Columbia and U. of A. clubs and the "ham clubs" at the two places, play by play results were relayed back and forth, affording a series of unique and interesting matches.

A mixed Varsity team carried the old Alma Mater's name abroad in a competition with picked members of the Edmonton Archery Club. Although the campus men were overpowered by heavy opposition, the "fair sex" came through with flying colors.

Assault

The Alberta gladiators retained their perennial hold on the Neilson Trophy in the annual Assault-at-Arms in Saskatoon last March. In twelve bouts of boxing and wrestling, the Green and Gold emerged victorious in seven.

In the Howe Trophy competition for boxing supremacy, Alberta also emerged triumphant. The two varsities split even-steven with each team taking three bouts but Alberta was awarded the cup on a points basis. However, Saskatchewan took the Beaumont Trophies, indicative of the best individual boxing and wrestling performers in the squared circle.

A surprising upset came when Laurie MacLean, the hard-hitting ace of the Alberta squad, scored a decisive technical knock-out over Saskatchewan's Beaumont Trophy holder of last year, Ace Beach. The result was unexpected by everyone except the Alberta team who had previously seen MacLean's fists in action. Powerful John Grotski compiled another T.K.O. in the Heavy-weight division, while Charles French was the third Alberta victor.

Pugilists?

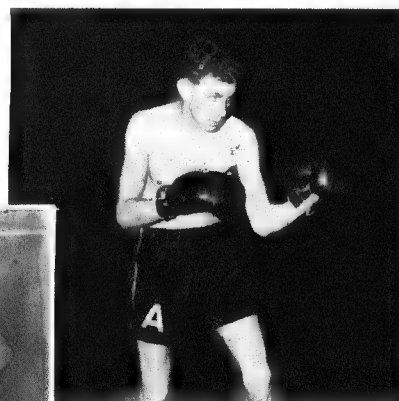

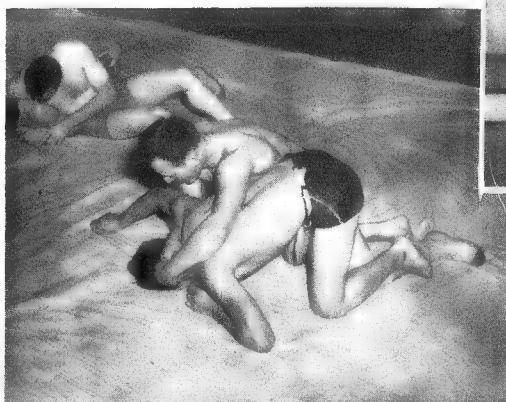

A t A r m s — — — — —

Alberta's stronghold was in the wrestling division where the western university entries won four out of six events. Ken Hisaoka, President of Wrestling Larry Edwards, Joe Gurba, and Alex Kurylo all played winning roles.

Meanwhile, in Winnipeg, during the same weekend, Alberta's fencing artists were not faring so well as their pugilistic team-mates. In this contest, U. of A. suffered ten defeats while emerging victorious in six matches. Stan Mealing turned a sterling performance while registering five wins in six tries.

The assault followed a very successful elimination fight card at the Drill Hall in February. Hundreds turned out to witness a snappy display of boxing, wrestling, and fencing skill in a preview of Alberta's intercollegiate skill. Highlight of the event came in a judo demonstration by a pair of Japanese experts. A hair-raising sabre duel featured Professor Gads of the Faculty of Engineering.

Senior Basketball

With an eye on the Olympic games, the 1948 Golden Bears were out to win every game. A heavy schedule had been drawn up but the team was packed with some of the classiest ball-handlers that had ever worn the Alberta colors. The season marked several "firsts" for the Green and Gold; first international jaunt by air, and the highest score ever run up.

Six members of the 1947 championship squad returned to form the nucleus of Coach Maury Van Vliet's current aggregation. The veterans, smoothies all, were backed by an outstanding group of freshmen who proved throughout the season that they were quite capable of performing with old-timers. In easy victories, or tough battles, the team operated cohesively and effectively.

The Bears were undefeated on their home floor. The first time out, against the city All-Stars, they were impressive with a 70-55 effort. In a two-game series with Magrath Lions, rated as the top contenders from the sugar-beet district for the Senior Alberta title, the Green and Gold shone again. However, most spectator interest was directed toward the two-game tussle on the Drill Hall floor with the Yellowjackets from Eastern Montana Normal. The previous year's contests were fresh in the memory of the fans as they packed the big hall and watched the local proceed to drub the Americans 67-53, and 90-54 on succeeding evenings. The latter score was the highest ever marked up by an Alberta hoop squad.

The Rigby Series was a foregone conclusion and ran true to form. The Saskatchewan Huskies dropped four in a row to complete their third victoryless season of competition with Alberta.

Then the Bears took to the air for a tour of American colleges which saw them matched against Montana School of Education, Northwest Wyoming College, and Eastern Montana Normal. The four game schedule was split with two victories and two losses.

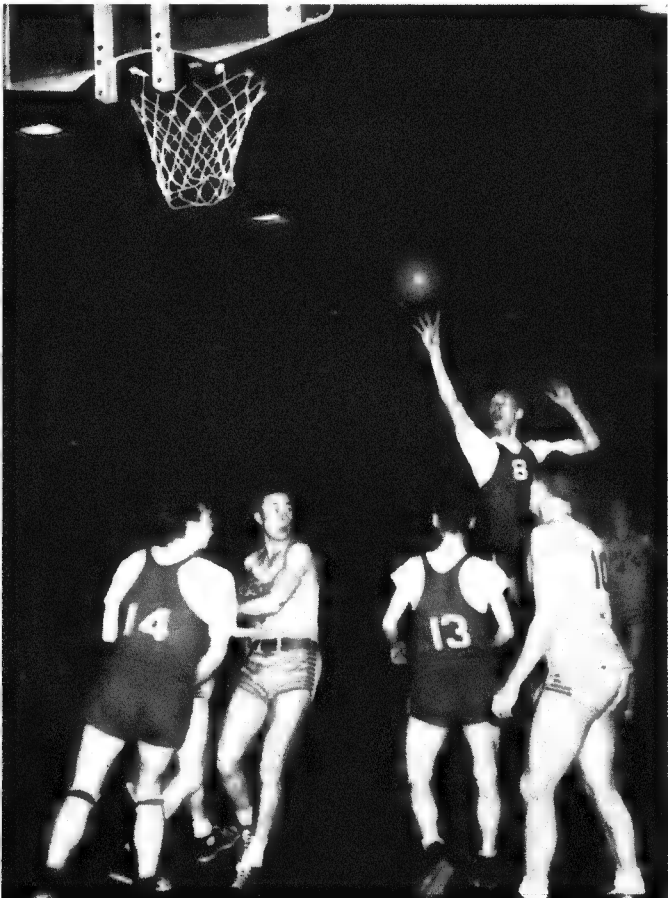

Because of conflicting examination dates, the students did not enter the provincial play-downs to defend their championship. Instead, a three game series with the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds was arranged to determine regional representatives in the first round of the Olympic Trials. It was a fitting climax to an outstanding season that the Bears were chosen for this honor.

Intramural Sports

After being overlooked for a good many years the "little man" was at last receiving his full share of athletic participation. No longer on the Alberta campus is the entire emphasis placed on a minority group of "experts" for this year under the auspices of the University Athletic Board an Intramural Athletic Program was instituted. Intramural competition is comprehensive to an even greater extent than the Interfaculty Leagues which it complements. Assistant Professor R. L. Hughes of the Physical Education Department was the key-man in the wide-spread system which covered six sports played by 340 athletes. Thirteen organizations sponsored entries in an attempt to capture the Henry Singer Trophy. Trophies and pennants were also presented to the individual aggregate champion and to the winners of each event.

Next year the tentative plans call for a doubling in number of the sports offered and an even greater increase in the participating students. All individuals and organizations are eligible to compete. The managers of the program for its initial year were John Yusep, senior Education student, and Clark Levitt, registered in second year Arts and Science.

The Henry Singer Trophy, for the organization with the largest aggregate total, and the Motor Car Supply Trophy for the individual aggregate champion, were this year presented respectively to the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and to C. MacIntosh. Runners-up in both cases were St. Stephen's College, and C. Burge. Permanent replicas of the trophies are to be retained by the winners. Both rivals for the individual aggregate award competed under the colors of the Dekes.

Sports

Champions in the various sports are as follows:

Badminton: Singles—Ken Grierson (Ind.)
Doubles—C. MacIntosh, C. Burge (Dekes)

Skiing: Individual—R. Bijou (D.U.)

Expect To Reach 4,500

4,088 Students Registered At Close of Fourth Day

Swollen U. of A. enrolment stretched a little tighter at the seams during last week. The record-breaking 1946 registration of about 4,300 undergraduates and graduates studying here was surpassed to reach the 4,500 mark.

At the end of the fourth and final day of mass registration last Thursday, there was a total of 4,088 students registered as compared with 3,843 for the same day last year. This is an approximate increase of 250 students at the University.

Yet to register were the latest class of diploma-making nurses, graduates, and late registrants. These were enrolling at the rate of 25 to 30 per day, according to University Registrar G. B. Taylor.

Final registration of all students should be completed by the end of this week. The late harvest is difficult for some enrollees to leave jobs, places, and other reasons. This is the number of registrants.

Total registration about 4,500 mark easily, probably to give U. of A. the enrolment in its 40 years of history.

Number of veterans at university by last week's count, 3,300, as compared with veteran enrolment of 1,700.

Most crowded faculty with Arts and Science, with about 1,000 students registered in B.A. courses. Education boasted 350, Applied Science 335 (as compared with the 1946 figure of 330), Agriculture 330 (as compared with about 250).

Commerce registration increased from about 250 to around the 300 mark, and the third and final year of Commerce shows an enrolment boost from last year's 17 to 28 at last Gateway count.

This year's third year Ag class has more than 100 members; the 1946 Ag class had 14 members.

Final year engineering registration for this session is more than double last year's.

And as late registrants continue to pour in this week, somewhere someone is probably beginning to sweat out the nightmare of next May's Convocation—likely to be the largest ever held by U. of A.

Silver Anniversary For Class of '22

By Irene Bowerman

It was the year 1922. Dancers bobbed the Charleston, flapper knees began to peep from beneath receding skirt lines, marcelled hair was featured by all the beauty parlors, and the women's matinee idol was Rudolph Valentino.

1922! An important year for the University of Alberta, for lectures were going full swing in the new Med Building, and faculty and students alike gazed fondly on this new baby to the campus. It was an important year also for a group of young people who were emerging from these ivy-covered walls as full graduates of the U. of A.

It was a wonderful class and a wonderful year for them. There have been many changes since their graduation days: Alberta College youth is now known as St. Steve's, and instead of having only 15 clubs on the campus, we have 50 to 100. But the spirit which the Class of '22 had still remains. They will discover this spirit when they return this week-end for the Alumni Homecoming.

Names such as Mamie Simpson, Howard T. Emery, J. T. Jones, and many others were in the limelight. What has happened to these people in the past 25 years? Let's turn back our clocks, and review the intervening quarter century.

Mamie Simpson, who has returned to the University as the Adviser to Women Students, was an active member of many varsity activities. In her Senior year she was president of the Literary Association and of the Wausonia Council, as well as Vice-president of the Students' Council. Since her graduation she has taught at Garnett High, Boone, and U. of A.

Thousands See Football Parade

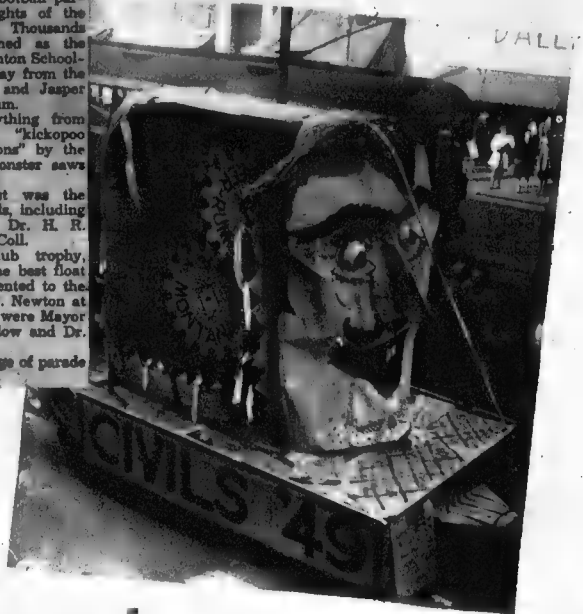

Firecrackers, smoke-bombs, crepe paper, and some "original" ideas made up the vivid collection of floats entered by Varsity faculties and fraternities in the football parade, one of the highlights of the Homecoming Weekend. Thousands of Edmontonians watched as the parade, led by the Edmonton Schoolboys Band, wound its way from the University down 109th and Jasper avenue to Clarke Stadium.

Floats depicted everything from Hairless Joe brewing "kickapoo juice" to gory "operations" by the Meds equipped with monster saws and knives.

One float of interest was the "hack" carrying '22 grads, including Miss Mainie Simpson, Dr. H. R. Thornton and M. B. McColl.

The Agricultural Club trophy, awarded annually for the best float in the parade, was presented to the Mining Engineers by Dr. Newton at the rugby game. Judges were Mayor Ainlay, Hon. W. A. Fellow and Dr. Newton.

Jim Wood was in charge of parade arrangements.

All is Ready For Waw-Waw Announces Director Urton

Proclamation!

To All Whom It May Concern

WHEREAS the constellations are moving towards the propitious are of this mortal coil, and whereas under which are the time will soon be most favorable for following the traditions and customs of Waw-Waw:

THEREFORE, be it known that the Minister of Feminine Affairs doth hereby make notice that in this month of November, Friday the 21st, and Saturday the 22nd, shall be proclaimed as Waw-Waw Days, and that up to and including midnight (23:59 hrs.), of that auspicious day, no mere male shall dare to dominate or date any or all members of the female species.

It shall be woman's prerogative, irrespective of age, personal attributes, sex appeal, pecuniary endowments or any mechanical conveyance, to draw a bead on some gorgeous or otherwise hunk of man, and thereupon pursue, phone, "coke," and indulge in the terpsichorean arts; upon conclusion of which she must deliver said gallant to his own bailiwick, domicile, or establishment, not omitting to plant a soul-satisfying peck on his handsome beak.

And further take note, all ye who hope to lure some elusive collegian with your wiles and charms:

1. The law demands ye shall in no wise make yourself known by the telephone other than by the veiled name of Waw-Waw.
2. It shall be illegal and a violation of the majestic rites of Waw-Waw to in any wise subject your male to any pecuniary obligation (in other words, you pay the bill).
3. It shall be your solemn duty and sole responsibility by all manner of means to create and inspire in his manly breast such a tumultuous pounding that his cries of joy outcry those of other guys.
4. It is hereby decreed that no man shall accept more than one date for any one of the functions to be arranged.

In consideration whereof, all gals and guys as of this date shall commence casting speculative glances and strutting their finest feathers, so that all shall partake of the festivities of Waw-Waw Day.

In witness whereof, I, Robert Urton, Minister of Feminine Affairs, have hereunto set my hand and affixed my seal.

ROBERT URTON.

Encores Run Out As Chorus Scores Hit From First Night

"We have run out of encores," announced Chorus Conductor Richard Eaton, after four extra numbers in the Mixed Chorus' first 1948 concert, Monday evening in Convocation Hall.

In a varied program extending from Beethoven's "Creation Hymn" to a marching song of the Zulu War, "The Swazi Warrior," the Chorus warmed its audience to ever increasing enthusiasm.

This year's group, consisting of 140 voices, is under the new baton of Richard Eaton of the Fine Arts department after growing for three years under the leadership of Gordon Clark. Mr. Eaton maintained excellent control of the chorus, and his own enthusiasm was conveyed to the whole group. Under his capable direction, the chorus responded as one instrument. Much of the amusement of the audience, Chorus drew up parts of the various numbers, almost as if he were manipulating stops.

The first part of the program was highlighted by Ralph Vaughan Williams' arrangement of the old Dorset folk song, "Linden Lea," and by the Irish folk tune, arranged as a patrol, "The Galway Piper."

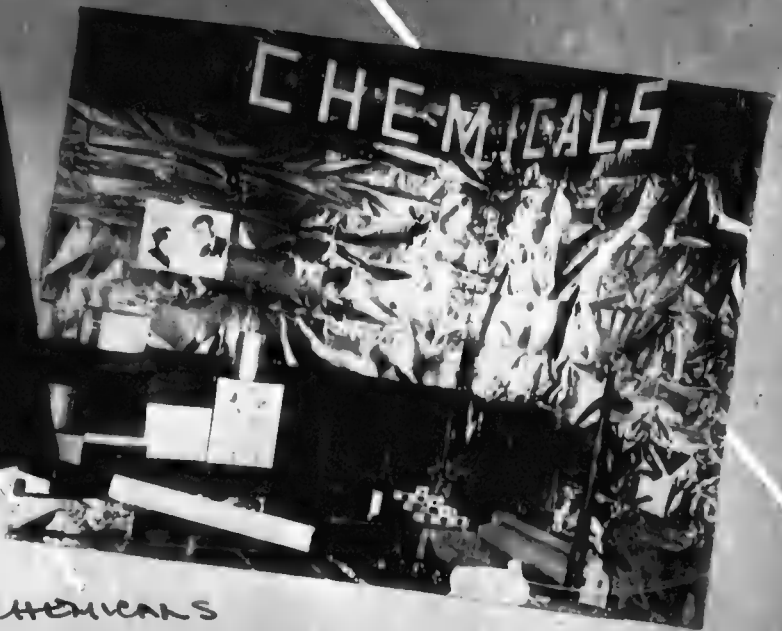

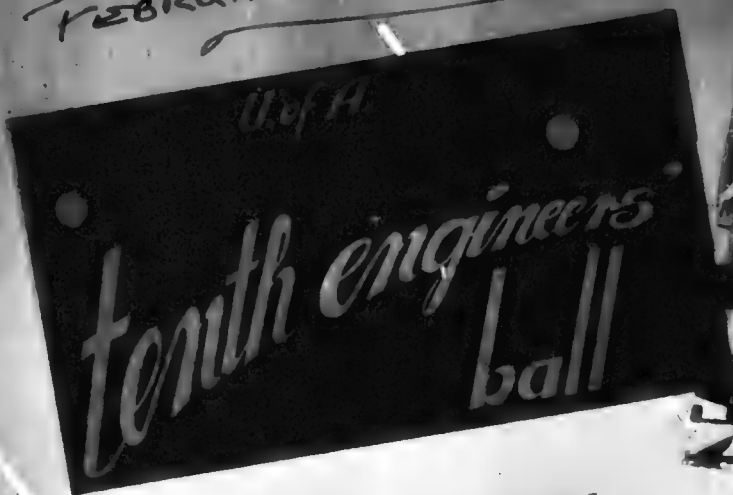

After prolonged applause, the Chorus repeated the Hall Johnson arrangement of the spiritual, "Honori Honor." The next number, "Honori," a loved sea shanty "Shenandoah," was sung by the male voices, the well-known Kelly singing the solo part. Kelly's voice, though not strong, was clear and his enunciation good.

Masefield's colorful poem "Carrageons," set to music by Balfour Garfield, provided an exercise in contrast, well displayed in the Chorus treatment.

At the end of the program, insistent applause brought a Yorkshira song, "Ten Green Bottles," by the male voices. The short whistled passage at the end of each verse highly amused the singers, the audience, and brought delighted grins to the faces of the ladies of the Chorus. Further encores included "O Lovely Peace" from Judas Maccabeus by Handel, the well known Australian song "Waltzing Matilda," "The Silver Swan," and repeats of "The Swazi Warrior," five of the "Ten Green Bottles" in response to a request from the audience and finally "Shenandoah."

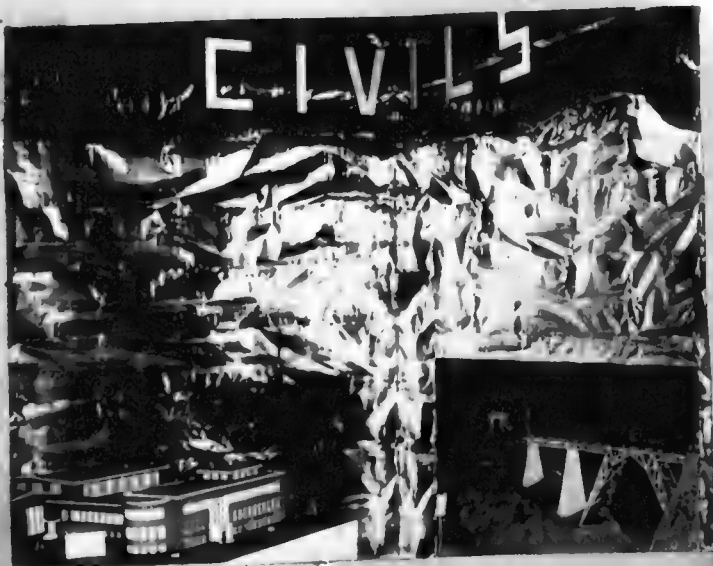

Miss Joyce Richardson did an excellent job as accompanist to the Chorus. After performances on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, the Chorus left for Calgary on tour.

...cubic feet per minute

LET'S IMAGINE A STREAM OF AIR CUBES caught within some strong force that is squeezing them from their one-cubic-foot size down to smaller and smaller cubes... increasing the pressure within them... pushing them into a pipe... creating Compressed Air Power. Cube after cube flows on as we count cubic feet per minute... in short we say cfm.

Emerging from the end of a hose or pipe and expanding behind a piston or the vanes of a rotary air motor, these air cubes power rock drills, riveters, grinders, hoists, wrenches and many other effort-saving tools. Finally, the cubes regain their original size and pressure... again become free atmosphere. Once more we count them... so many cfm.

Machines that squeeze or compress the air are called air compressors. Machines that use the compressed air to push a piston, or turn a wheel, are called air tools. Cfm is the "yardstick" for measuring both the capacity of compressors and the air consumption of air tools.

But cfm is only one means of appraising these machines. On compressors and air tools, widely used throughout the world you will find the ® trademark. This symbol stands for nearly 75 years of pioneering and development in the compressed air industry. It is your assurance of a reliable machine that will economically produce or apply compressed air power.

Air for power purposes is usually compressed to 100 pounds pressure in machines varying in size from 2 to 16,000 cfm, requiring from 1/2 to 3000 horsepower. But there are hundreds of other uses for compressors.

One example is a 2500-horsepower compressor that inhales about 4850 cfm (a box-car full every minute) of nitrogen and hydrogen gas, squeezing the gas in six steps to one-350th of its original size... increasing its pressure to over 5000 pounds. A number of these Canadian-built units serve Canada's synthetic ammonia plants.

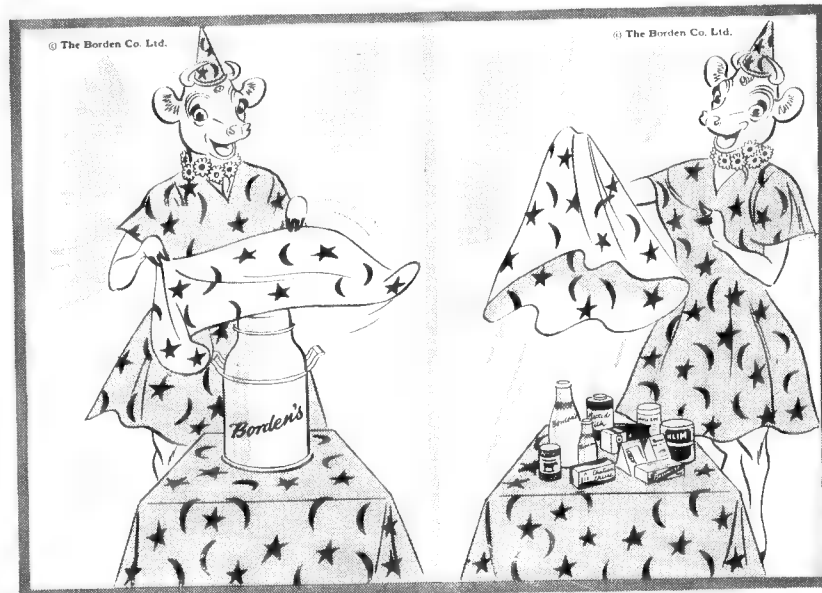

Installed in Canada to furnish air blast for smelting steel, copper and nickel are also I-R turbo blowers, compressing up to 90,000 cfm to 30 psi and requiring up to 9000 h.p. in a single unit.

You might call it "white magic!"

When you think of it, it's next to miraculous the way milk gets around!

Milk by the bottle is just one outlet for the dairy farms' produce. At Borden's we produce over 50 different milk products . . . including evaporated milk, condensed milk, powdered milk, ice cream, cheeses and butter.

Research is another contribution to the advancement of Canadian agriculture. New milk products, perfected in the laboratory, are introduced to the public from time to time. Each new milk product gives distribution to that much more of the milk from Canadian farms.

Milk that "gets around", in its natural and processed forms, benefits the public, and the agricultural industry. The Borden Company is proud of the part it plays in widening the scope of Canadian dairying.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

Trolley Coaches — Canadians' favourite transit vehicles—use G-E propulsion units and controls.

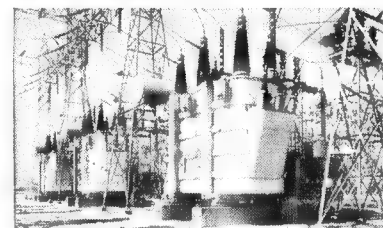

The high efficiency of electric lighting is typified by this modern G-E fluorescent installation.

FIFTY YEARS — a day in the life of a nation — yet the progress achieved in the generation, distribution and application of electricity during the past fifty years has made possible the standard of living we enjoy today. Canadian General Electric has played an active and important part and is continuing to bring more and more of the benefits of electricity to more and more people . . . to change for the better, the habits of a nation.

Electricity helps Canadians to live better. This modern G-E kitchen saves time and work.

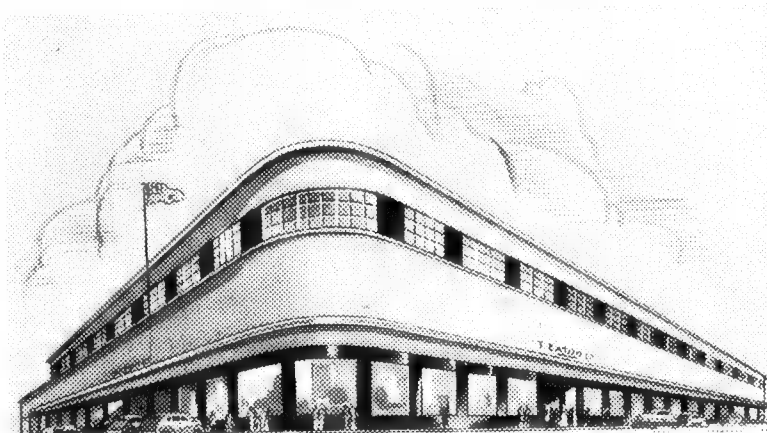

Transformers produced by C.G.E. help maintain the flow of electricity to users in Canada.

You'll Vote It "Grand Champion" of the Small Tractor Class

Low in cost and with a wide array of quick-mounted tools, the Massey-Harris "Pony" Tractor is bringing the advantages of full-scale power farming to small farms and market gardens where tractor equipment has not been economical in the past.

It is demonstrating its usefulness and economy as the "handy extra tractor" on large farms . . . for row-crop work, hay making, and the myriad of small jobs that are awkward or expensive when done with a big field outfit.

With a Massey-Harris "Pony", you can cultivate row crops at 7 miles an hour, turn a 12 or 14-inch furrow at speeds up to 3.59 miles an hour, or do heavy lugging at 2.74 miles an hour. Both front and rear wheels are adjustable for row-crop or general work. With self starter and battery ignition it handles like an automobile. Can be equipped with belt pulley and power take-off if desired.

Ask your local Massey-Harris dealer for full particulars about the "Pony". We believe you, too, will vote it "grand champion of the small tractor class".

MATERIAL SUCCESS IS BUILT ON THE SAVING HABIT

There is nothing mysterious about the success of those who are today protected against reverses and ill-fortune.

Their security and independence are founded on the habit of saving regularly part of what they earn.

You, too, can form that habit. It takes firmness and will power to do it, but it is such effort that builds character.

A Savings Account in this Bank will help you. Why not open one today?

RADAR at the HELM!

The first commercial application of radar is Westinghouse Marine Radar. Now, for the first time, ships at sea have a navigational and anti-collision device unaffected by weather, storms, darkness or fogs.

Westinghouse Marine Radar is already proving its worth to coastwise shipping and promises to become ■ standard instrument of navigation.

This latest example of Westinghouse leadership in the field of electronics is still further evidence of the skill and experience which lie behind every Westinghouse Product.

HI THERE!

*Right now your grades are good . . .
but life holds harder tests*

Harder indeed! Life was never a lenient schoolmaster. And making the grade in life demands all a man can muster in the way of knowledge, ability and forethought.

Especially forethought! The sort of forethought that prompts a man to start charting a life insurance program early in youth. The sort of forethought that enables a man to realize that whatever the experiences life holds for him—earning a living, getting married, raising a family, having earning power cut off—he is better equipped to meet them and enjoy them when he has behind him the security and protection provided by life insurance.

Talk to a Mutual Life of Canada representative and ask him what policy or combination of policies is best suited to your particular circumstances. Let him show you the special features of Mutual low-cost life insurance.

Keeping in Step With Alberta's Progress . . .

In keeping with the vigorous growth of Alberta, Calgary Power has always endeavored to forecast and prepare for the increasing needs of industrial and home use.

The planning of new power projects, the utilization of all available technical advances, the maintenance of equipment at highest efficiency . . . all these are objects of constant attention in our endeavor to serve Alberta well.

From our present five hydro-electric plants electrical energy flows out over 3000 miles of transmission lines. These will be maintained and added to as required to assure ample power for present and future needs.

For dollars or life?

You're studying for medicine, or law, or engineering, or agriculture. You expect your years at University to pay dividends of dollars in the years to come. They should. But what about life—the enjoyment of it, the appreciation of it, the contributions to it? Your University training is not complete unless it teaches you the richness of living. It is not ■ success unless with your diploma you also carry ■ wise and mature attitude into the years ahead. For upon your shoulders depends to a large extent the chances for happiness and prosperity in the future of this Province of ours.

A MESSAGE:---

To the Undergraduates . . .

. . . We are looking forward to meeting you next fall.

To the Graduates . . .

. . . We wish you every good fortune . . . and we welcome your handshake whenever you happen our way.

FROM
TUCK SHOP PHARMACY

We Have Interests In Common

YOU with your family, friends, neighbours, all share in the progress of your community. The shops, the grocery and drug stores you deal with, your local church, school, police and fire stations, contribute their share, too. So does the local branch of this Bank.

WE provide you with complete banking services. We cash your family allowance and pay-cheques. We receive your deposits, safeguard your savings. We help you with ■ Personal or Business Loan when needed. Our local Manager enjoys ■ friendly business call. We have interests in common. Come in and see us any time.

Resident Students Go All Out for I. S. S.

A Familiar Figure

Is Reg Lister still there? This seems to be the first question any U. of A. alumnus asks.

Who is this Mr. Lister and where did he come from. Reg is the short, pudgy, good-natured residence superintendent; with an ever-ready smile, a comment or perhaps even a story to tell. If your father went to this University Reg can probably quote you his room number, his girl friends' names, and even the number of times he annoyed the warden.

Digging around in the past, we find that the Lister family of Hingham, Norfolk, England was blessed with a son, Reginald, on December 31, 1891 (almost a New Year Baby). This wee lad grew into a rather short, plump youngster who became a house boy in one of England's larger private homes until 1908.

It was then that he came to Canada to seek his fortune and took to farming near Camrose where he stayed for two years. On Coronation Day, 1911 he started work on the U of A. campus with the construction gang building Athabasca Hall.

In the fall of 1912 Reginald went home, arriving there in time to celebrate his twenty-first birthday. In April, 1913 he returned to the land of his adoption only to leave it again in 1916 with a Field Ambulance Unit of the Canadian Army.

On October 10, 1917, Reg married Lillian Priscilla Dyball in Holy Trinity Church, Norwich, England. At the war's end, Reg returned (with his bride) to Edmonton where they raised a family of three (all graduates of our University). Catherine and Joyce graduated in House Ec. in 1941 and 1948 respectively; while Ronald became an Agriculture Alumnus in 1946.

During the war years of 1941-45 Reg was with the Airforce as Barrack Warden where he met many fellows who were destined several years later to return to those old halls as University students. They were all familiar names and faces to Reg despite the span of years and change of attire.

During his thirty-four years on the campus, Reg has encountered innumerable odd experiences of which he can relate many a tale. Many of these tales have been told to those who have been fortunate enough to make his acquaintance, but the great majority remain gems for his quiet reminiscing. To that little man who meets you from a tilted swivel chair with a ready smile and a ready wit we say, "Thanks a million Reg, for making our stay in residence just a bit more comfortable and a lot more pleasant. Yes, when we say he is short we refer only to his stature.

My Gratitude

As another yearbook rolls of the press and the memories of one more year at the University of Alberta are safely tucked away, our staff leaves behind a yearbook which they hope in years to come will be prized as one of the most important memoirs of University days.

My gratitude goes to Bert Hollingshead, Lyall Roper and the staffs of McDermids and Commercial Printers for their helpful suggestions, criticisms and advice. Mr. Glyde of the Fine Arts Dept. deserves much credit for the fine job he did on our lead pages.

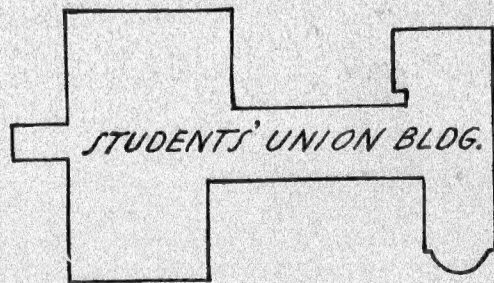

The directors and staffs of the past have contributed much to this publication and I am grateful to them for the foundation they laid and the many suggestions they left.

To the staff of this book I am extremely grateful. Due to the large number on the staff it is impossible to mention all of them personally; however, some deserve special credit. Dave Shouldice as assistant director was a constant support and his help was greatly appreciated. Phil Campbell, Sheila Forrest, Van Christou, and Marg Coates were always willing to lend a hand no matter what the task. To Van goes a special bouquet for his excellent editorial work which sets a challenge for future editors, and to Phil goes a special "thank you" for finishing up the details after the rest of us left. The photographers deserve much credit for the high quality and quantity of work they produced. The work of the rest of the staff was also very important and to all of you I would like to say "Thank You".

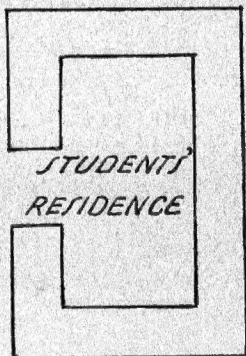

Now that this book is delivered to your hands we hope you will derive as much pleasure out of its reading as we did in its production.

A. M. HARPER.
